GOULD LINE IS OUTWITTED TO SEABOARD

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., Has Plan for New Pittsburgh Road.

Greene County Survey Is Link Between P. & L. E. and C. & O.

SLAP AT THE WABASH SYSTEM

President of the Gould Railroad Does Not Understand How That Line Can Get to the Sea by Its Present Plans.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
FRANK P. PATTERSON, Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railroad, arrived in New York today on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. His coming is pregnant with interest to Pittsburgh, for the first work devolving upon him is the closing of the deal whereby the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad acquires its seaboard line. The arms of the "Little Giant" and the Vanderbilt interests will reach from the lakes through Pittsburgh to the sea. The property, franchises and unfinished construction of the Greene county railroad and the Little Kanawha syndicate purchased by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie for $10,000,000, will be taken over as soon as Mr. Ramsey can take the matter up.

When Mr. Ramsey has completed this work, which will be within a short time, the labor of constructing a seaboard railroad between Pittsburgh and the Atlantic will soon be under way. Mr. Ramsey had little to say on the railroad and financial situation, pleading unfamiliarity with pending affairs, because of his European trip. Speaking of the Greene county railroad, he said:

Another Seaboard Line.

"The Greene county railroad, I believe, will be built with the greatest possible dispatch. I do not know how soon Pittsburgh can expect a seaboard connection, but the Greene county railroad was sold to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie interest because it was thought that the people who took it over would be the best people to undertake the railroad construction, and to give Pittsburgh the benefit of another seaboard line. There were several deals on the Greene county undertaking, and it could have been disposed of to other interests for as much or more money, but the course taken was the one considered best. There is nothing I know of that can prevent the immediate going forward of work of construction."

Mr. Ramsey would not discuss the various matters that have arisen in the Wabash family during his absence. He will be president of the road until October, and then his final bond with any of the Gould interests will be severed.

Meant What He Said to Delano.

"In my letter to Mr. Delano," said Mr. Ramsey, "I gave expression to about all I had to say on that subject. I might add, however, in support of my argument as to train collectors, that I consider them absolutely essential to safety in transportation on a single-track railroad. The wreck at Seneca on the Wabash was certainly due to the absence of the train collector, the conductor being engaged collecting in the sleeping cars and leaving the execution of train orders to a brakeman on the rear. That wreck caused the death of 40 persons. About 110 persons were injured, and the Wabash railroad spent $150,000 adjusting the claims. A similar wreck occurred on

RIVAL CONCERNS GET A HEARING

Traction Interests Have Warm Fight in Harrisburg Over Charters.

FLINN COMPANIES MAY WIN

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
WILLIAM D. ROSS, Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 5.—Charters will probably be granted to both the Flinn and the Fording-Morse interests for tunnel and subway companies.

The Fording-Morse syndicate seems likely to fail in its effort to obtain charters for the Collins Avenue, Boquet & Joncaire and Melwood Avenue Street Railway Companies, as the right of the subsidiary companies of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to file extensions on these streets seems accepted.

Further fights, to be made in the courts rather than before the charter-granting authorities of the state, seem inevitable, the initiative being taken by the Fording-Morse interests.

These deductions were drawn from the tri-partite hearings held this afternoon before Corporation Clerk John F. Whitworth of the state department.

Surprises Are Sprung.

Although in the main quiet, there was considerable tension in the sparring for points in the hearing, and several surprises were sprung. One of these was the withdrawal of the application of the Fording-Morse interests for a charter for the Pittsburgh & East End Railway Company. Mr. Fording first asked a postponement of the hearing on this application, giving as a cause for the request that it involved a point which he did not wish to bring out at the time. When there were objections to the postpone-

GOMPERS GETS UNIQUE SEND-OFF FROM LEADERS

While Waiting for Train at Union Station Prominent Labor Men Sing "Everybody Works in Our House" for Him.

Had a fast train ploughed through the high steel fence which separates the train shed from the platform at Union station last night, the big crowd of people waiting in the station for trains could not have vacated their seats more quickly than when Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, reached the station platform. Patrick Dolan, T. H. Flynn, William Dodds, Edward McKay and other prominent leaders undertook to see Gompers off.

Gompers was scheduled to go east on the 10 o'clock train. He got away all right, but such a unique demonstration was made by the labor leaders that Gompers will remember his visit to Pittsburgh for many a day. Just before the 10 o'clock train was announced the opening bars of a strange song floated into the station. The people listened for a moment and then there was an exodus from the station.

Out on the platform, surrounded by the local leaders, Gompers at first thunderstruck, then catching the merriment of the others joined in singing a song, entitled "Everybody Works in Our House." Cheers from the big audience added zest to the demonstration and the labor leaders gave the song, which seemed to be their specialty, over again several times.

As Gompers was going through the gate to his train, M. M. Garland, collector of the port at Pittsburgh, and an old labor leader, went through the station on a run with a suit case. Garland was captured by Dolan and McKay, who swung him into the circle and then the song was given for him. When Gompers and Garland got through the gate the men on the platform indulged in a little "close harmony" and repeated the song several more times.

Samuel Gompers, accompanied by the officers of several labor unions affiliated with the Federation, called on Mayor Hays yesterday. Mr. Gompers said he and his friends desired to pay their respects to the mayor, as the Federation will hold its twenty-fifth annual convention in this city in November, the city in which it was organized.

The committee asked the mayor if the federation could have Old City hall for the meetings of the convention. The mayor telephoned to the hall and found that it had not been engaged for the dates on which the convention will meet, so he said the federation could have it.

LOVERS DASH TO DEATH FROM DISABLED AUTO

Hurled Over Bridge Railing to Railway Tracks Far Below.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—While en route from Atlantic City to Philadelphia today in an automobile Neill Wolfe, secretary and treasurer of an automobile company of this city and Miss Marie Hamill, daughter of a wealthy Germantown shoddy manufacturer, were thrown from an automobile on a bridge over the West Jersey & Seashore railroad, near Atco, N. J., and hurled 30 feet to the tracks below. Miss Hamill was almost instantly killed and Mr. Wolfe died soon afterward.

The accident was due to defective steering gear. It occurred at Hayes bridge, a short distance east of Atco. The approach to the bridge is curved, very steep and heavy with sand. When the car reached the smooth boards of the bridge it plunged forward and swerved toward the pipe railings. Miss Hamill rose to her feet just as the right forward wheel of the automobile struck the railing. Mr. Wolfe jumped up and attempted to prevent her falling. Both were hurled from the car over the railing to the tracks below.

Mr. Wolfe and Miss Hamill were to have been married in December. She was spending the summer with her parents at the seashore and Mr. Wolfe had been visiting the family. He was formerly a member of the Fifth United States artillery.

BON AIR COMPANY WINS ITS FRANCHISE

West Liberty Councils Grant It Rights of Way Despite Citizens' Objections and Sleepy Secretary.

West Liberty council met last night and considered two street railway ordinances, one presented by the Bon Air Street Railway Company, the other by the Library & West Liberty Street Railway Company.

There was some objection to the Bon Air franchise by one or two members of council and by Frank I. Gosser, who was there as a citizen. The meeting was quite free and easy. Gosser broke in when he wanted to and the borough clerk, Mr. Beltshoover, urged the councilmen to hurry, as he wanted to go to bed and get enough sleep to enable him to earn his living during the day time.

The Bon Air ordinance was passed finally, despite Mr. Gosser's objections to a portion of the route. The Library & West Liberty ordinance passed second reading.

JUMPS BEFORE ENGINE AND SAVES SMALL BOY

Six-year-old John Vitski was coasting down South Twenty-second street last night in a little wagon, so busy guiding the wagon that he did not see a locomotive coming on a siding out of Edwards alley, until it was almost upon him. Then Vitski screamed. Police Lieutenant Charles McAfee saw the locomotive and the boy. He jumped in front of the locomotive, snatched the boy off the wagon and sprang aside with him just in time. At the same instant the wagon was demolished by the engine.

ARRESTS INSANE MAN; THINKS HE IS RUSSELL

Crafton Policeman Takes Into Custody Man Who Resembles Demented Murderer.

The police of Crafton believe they have confined in the borough lockup Thomas O. Russell, the demented murderer of John Wasmuth, who escaped from the insane asylum at Woodville last Friday and for whom detectives and farmers have been hunting since then.

As a Carnegie car was passing the Idlewood mine in the Third ward of Crafton last night at 9:30 Conductor Wagner noticed a man, dirty and disheveled, getting on the rear seat. The man carried a club and his coat was thrown over his arm. About the coat a pair of shoes was tied. Wagner scrutinized the stranger closely and believed he recognized the man for whom officers had been searching for days.

Chief of Police Westcott of Crafton boarded the car, arrested the man and placed him in the Crafton lockup.

The prisoner gave the name of Charles Urben. Authorities from the Woodville home will go to Crafton this morning and find out positively whether the man in the lockup is T. O. Russell. The man under arrest is regarded as insane and tells an incoherent story.

BEEF PACKERS TO DEMAND SEPARATE TRIALS FOR ALL

Cases Are Delayed Two Weeks at Request of Packers' Attorneys—They Prepare for Fight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Twenty-one separate trials may be demanded before federal judges by the Chicago packers, indicted on charges of conspiracy in restraint of trade, within the next two weeks. The matter of pleading was continued until September 18 by Judge J. Otis Humphrey today.

Many of the attorneys interested in the case held a consultation and at least one agreement was reached whereby a separate trial will be demanded from the government. This move was anticipated, and every effort will be made by the federal attorneys to offset the requests of the defendants.

Assistant Attorney General Oliver Pagin, in speaking of the contemplated demands for separate trials, declared tonight that it is not probable that separate hearings will be granted by the federal courts under the one indictment charging conspiracy.

EXPRESS GOES WILD.

Engineer and Fireman Thrown from Engine by Explosion and Train Runs for Miles.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Scores of passengers on a Bar Harbor express which left Portsmouth, N. H., at 8:25 p. m. last night, after arriving late, looked from one another with a feeling of uneasiness as the roar and rattle of the train increased until it was evident that something was wrong. The crown plate had been torn from its rivets by an explosion, which had thrown the engine driver and fireman from their seats, and for miles the train had been running wild. Later the engine crew was found badly scalded beside the rails.

HANDSOME JEWELS FOR BRIDE

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The marriage of Marshall Field, the wealthy Chicago merchant, to Mrs. Delia Spencer Caton of that city took place at noon at St. Margaret's, Westminster. The ceremony was performed by Cannon Hensley Henson, rector of the church, assisted by the Rev. Frank Campbell, senior curate. There was an entire absence of display at the church, no decorations having been attempted.

Only relatives and personal friends of the bride and bridegroom were in the church, including the American ambassador, Mr. Whitelaw Reid, and two secretaries from the embassy. The ceremony itself was the simplest used in the church of England, there being no music, except that of the organ. Marshall Field, Jr., acted as best man. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Augustus Eddy.

The bride wore a dress of gray crepe de chine, with broad bands of chiffon velvet and silver embroidery falling from the waist to the hem of the skirt. The bodice was trimmed in the same way, with a vest of lace. Her hat was white, turned up at the side, and had a high crown, and a sweeping white ostrich feather. The magnificence of her jewels, which were the gift of the bridegroom, was remarked by everybody. Besides large pearl earrings and a necklace, there was a brooch containing an enormous pearl set in diamonds. Her bouquet was of pale lavender orchids.

The party drove to Claridges, where the wedding breakfast was served. There were present Mrs. Beatty, daughter of Mr. Field; Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Eddy and Miss Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dibblee, Mr. and Mrs. Crossley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Field, the American ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, John Ridgeley Carter, secretary of the embassy; Craig Wadsworth, Spencer Eddy, Mrs. Wirt Dexter, John Clark, Miss Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Blair, William Munroe and the Rev. Mr. Campbell. The tables were beautifully decorated. Mr. Reid made a speech, in which he proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom, to which Mr. Field made a short response. Mr. and Mrs. Field will sail for America in October.

In spite of the shock he will recover.

Phoenix was painting cables overhead in the transformer room and grasped a cable. He was hurled from the platform to the cement floor 20 feet below. The electric current left his body by way of the feet, and holes as large as a half dollar and half an inch deep were burned in the soles. His shoes were set on fire.

DISTINGUISHED PARTY PRESENT

Former Foes Eulogize Each Other During the Solemn Moment That Brings Tranquillity to Two Great Nations in the Far East.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 5.—The treaty of Portsmouth was signed shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon in the conference room of the navy general store at the navy yard. The firing of a national salute of 19 guns was the signal which told the people of Portsmouth, Kittery and New Castle that the peace treaty of Portsmouth was an accomplished fact, and the church bells in the three towns were soon pealing forth a joyful refrain.

For 47 minutes those outside the conference room anxiously awaited the signal. Suddenly an orderly dashed to the entrance of the peace building and waved his hand to the gunner a few feet away, and the opening shot of the salute rang out on the clear air of the soft September afternoon proclaiming peace between Russia and Japan.

Three o'clock was the hour set for the final session of the conference. An hour before that time a heavy thunderstorm was in progress, but as M. Witte and Baron De Rosen left the hotel in an automobile at 2:25 for the navy yard, the rain had stopped. When Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira entered their automobile 25 minutes later the sun suddenly shone, which called forth the remark from Baron Komura:

"It is a good omen for peace."

This remark was cheered by the crowd gathered to see the Japanese depart.

Merely Bowed Their Heads.

When the plenipotentiaries entered the conference room from their respective offices they merely bowed to each other and took their accustomed seats at the long table around which their negotiations have been conducted. Instead of the secretaries sitting next the plenipotentiaries, however, these chairs were occupied by the remaining delegates. M. Witte sat at the center of the table facing the window. On his right was Baron De Rosen and Capt. Roussine, the latter occupying the seat of Mr. Martens, who was detained at his hotel by indisposition. On M. Witte's left sat M. Pokotiloff and Gen. Yermaloff.

Directly opposite M. Witte was Baron Komura, with Mr. Takahira and Mr. Sato on his right and Mr. Denison and Mr. Yamaza on his left. At one end of the table sat Mr. Plancon, with the Russian originals of the treaty in French and English and the final protocol. Grouped around the table were the other members of the two missions and the invited witnesses—Mr. Peirce, the third assistant secretary of state, as the personal representative of the president; Admiral Mead, commandant of the navy-yard; Capt. Winslow, commanding the Mayflower; the governor of New Hampshire and the mayor of Portsmouth.

As soon as the delegates had taken their seats Mr. Sato left his chair and went to M. Witte's side with the Japanese copies of the treaty, which he placed before him. At the same time Mr. Plancon placed the Russian copies of the treaty before Komura. Almost at the same moment the two selected pens from the center of the table and signed their names, first to the French and then to the English text. The copies were then signed by Baron Rosen and Mr. Takahira. Mr. Sato returned the Japanese copies for the signatures of Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira. M. Witte and Baron De Rosen affixed their signatures to the Russian copies and the treaty of Portsmouth was signed, the ceremony being completed at 3:47.

Friends Once Again.

To this moment no word had broken the silence of the conference room. Throwing his pen aside, M. Witte, without a word, reached across the table and grasped Baron Komura's hand. His conferees followed and the Russian and Japanese delegates remained for a moment in silence, their right hands tightly clasped across the conference table. The war was over. Russia and Japan were once more friends.

This simple ceremony rang true and deeply impressed the attaches and secretaries of the two missions, who with the invited witnesses, had formed a large circle around the delegates sitting at the table.

Baron de Rosen was the first to break the silence. Rising from his seat, the ambassador, looking Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira straight in the eyes, said a few words which one had only to hear to know that they came from his heart. He began by saying that he wished on behalf of M. Witte, Russia's first plenipotentiary, and in his own name, to say a few words. The ambassador said:

> We have just signed an act which will have forever a place in the annals of history. It is not for us active participants in the conclusion of this treaty to pass judgment on its import and significance. As negotiators on behalf of the empire of Russia as well as the empire of Japan, we may with tranquil conscience say that we have done all that was in our power in order to bring about the peace for which the whole civilized world was longing. As plenipotentiaries of Russia we fulfill a most agreeable duty in acknowledging that in negotiating with our hitherto adversaries, and from this hour our friends, we have been dealing with true and thorough gentlemen to whom we are happy to express our high esteem and personal regard. We earnestly hope that friendly relations between the two empires will henceforth be firmly established and we trust that his excellency, Baron Komura, as minister of foreign affairs and one of the leading statesmen of the country, will apply to the strengthening of these relations the wide experience and wise statesmanship he so conspicuously displayed during these negotiations, which have now been so auspiciously concluded.

Baron Komura replied that he shared entirely the views of Baron De Rosen. The treaty of peace which they had just signed, he said, was in the interest of humanity and civilization and he was happy to believe that it would bring about a firm, lasting peace between two neighboring empires. He added that it would always be pleasant for him to recall that throughout the long and serious negotiations which they have left behind them, he and his colleagues had invariably received from the Russian plenipotentiaries the highest courtesy and consideration and finally he begged to assure the Russian plenipotentiaries that it would be his duty as well as his pleasure to do everything in his power to make the treaty in fact what it professes to be in words—a treaty of peace and amity.

At the conclusion of Baron Komura's remarks M. Witte arose and said he desired to see Baron De Rosen and the Japanese plenipotentiaries alone for a few minutes. The four retired to the Russian office and were closeted for 10 minutes. What transpired in that final conference of the peace makers, the world may never know. The plenipotentiaries, however, refused to discuss it even to their secretaries.

While the conference was in progress the secretaries were affixing the official seal to the treaty, there being four seals to each of the four copies. Upon their return to the conference, the plenipotentiaries then signed the protocol of their last meeting which records the signing of the treaty.

After this there was general handshaking and a buffet luncheon was served, the Russians and Japanese informally drinking each other's health. Shortly before 5 o'clock the Russian mission left the yard for the Thanksgiving service at Christ church and the Japanese returned to the hotel.

Unique Church Service.

A solemn and impressive service of thanksgiving of nearly two hours' duration was held in Christ Episcopal church this evening. For the first time in this country, it is said, the English and Russian tongues were heard at a service in an Anglican church, although priests of the Russian-Greek Catholic faith on several occasions have been present at service in Episcopal churches and clergy of the latter denomination have taken part in Russian ceremonies.

The service today was arranged by the rector of Christ church, the Rev. Father C. Le Ve Brine, and by priests of the Russian orthodox church in this country.

A pew was reserved for the Japanese, but they were unable to be present. Every seat in the body of the church was filled some time before the service was begun, shortly after 5 o'clock, and fully 2,000 persons stood outside the building. Among those in the congregation were Gov. John McLane of New Hampshire and Assistant Secretary of State Peirce. The entire Russian suite, numbering 19 persons, attended. The last to arrive were M. Witte and Baron de Rosen. The two envoys were escorted to seats reserved for them just within the chancel rail.

The clergy present included the Rt. Rev. Henry Codman Potter, Episcopal bishop of New York; seven Russian priests from various cities of the United States and four of the Episcopal body. The elaborate service consisted of solemn evensong, processions and te deum, the usual evening ceremonial used on festal occasions by the Catholic wing of the Anglican body.

Most Solemn Service.

The service began with a procession about the church. Headed by the cross bearer, and acolytes carrying lighted tapers, a Russian and American choir of 60 voices passed up the center aisle of the sacred edifice. After the priests, acolytes, attendants, and choristers had been seated in the sanctuary, the service proper was begun by Father Brine, who intoned the passages and prayers throughout, the choir singing the responses. At the singing of the Magnificat, the hymn of the Virgin, the altar was censed.

A brief sermon in English was given by the Rev. Alexander A. Hotovitsky, arch priest of St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox church, New York city. Father Hotovitsky in his discourse emphasized the blessings of peace. His prayer, he said, was that all the people of Russia and Japan might be of one mind regarding the dangers of war or strife.

Following the sermon the Russian priests and attendants took positions before the high altar and chanted a te Deum in Russian.

M. Witte and Baron de Rosen left their seats and stood in the chancel facing the altar, and were surrounded by the Russian priests during the singing of the lengthy chant. This ceremony was the most impressive of the service. While the hymn of thanksgiving was being sung, the smoke from the censor ascended to the arched roof of the sanctuary, and obscured at times the light from half a hundred candles.

Father Hotovitsky offered prayers for the army and then a prayer for all those who lost their lives in the war was chanted. The service was concluded at 8:55 p. m. In addition to Father Hotovitsky the Russian priests present included the Rev. Jason P. Kappandke of Cleveland.

A high officer of the Russian mission said to a correspondent regarding the service:

> The ceremony was a most extraordinary one, as there is probably no example of such a ceremony since the separation of the Orthodox from the Roman Catholic church. This afternoon's session was performed by Orthodox and Episcopal priests who had for the time put aside all their misunderstandings. They went back, at least in spirit, to the early days of Christianity when there was but one church. The human, Christian feeling was so strongly shown this afternoon that all their misunderstandings which have caused the shedding of so much blood and about which so many thousands of books have been written were forgotten. All this proved that the signing of the treaty of Portsmouth today was an act which had strengthened, elevated and broadened the human soul.

An Original War.

Mr. De Martens having been requested to express his views on the treaty just signed, said tonight:

> Your request for my personal opinion on the treaty is somewhat embarrassing on account of the part, although modest, which I took in the work of the peace conference at Portsmouth. However, if my opinion can, even in a small degree, enlighten the political situation and assist in a right and impartial appreciation of the treaty of Portsmouth I am ready to say what I think. I have not the intention of condemning or praising anything, and will limit myself to some rudimentary elements which may help in the formation of a just and enlightened public opinion.
> The last war between Russia and Japan has not precedent in the annals of international wars, it is "unique and original" in its exploits as well as in the conditions of the struggle. Russia sustained reverses and misfortunes which nobody expected. Japan obtained successes which surprised even the Japanese patriots.
> When it is asked: "Where was the theater of war?" it is answered, "It was in neutral territory." It must be admitted that such a war during 18 months on the territory of a neutral state is an absolutely new condition in the annals of international relations. Considering these unique and extraordinary circumstances, it is only too natural that the clauses of the treaty of peace signed today regard more the neutral states, Korea and China, than the territorial possessions of the two belligerent powers. It was only at the last moment, almost at the opening of the peace conference, that Russian territory, a part of the island of Sakhalin, was occupied by the Japanese.

EXPERT CALLED TO KITTANNING.

KITTANNING, PA.—Mr. George W. Wood, the certified accountant and chirographic expert of Pittsburgh, is registered at the Reynold's house. Mr. Wood has been called in the McKinstry case on trial here.

TEXT OF THE PEACE "TREATY OF PORTSMOUTH"

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 5.—The peace treaty opens with a preamble reciting that his majesty, the emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, and his majesty, the emperor of Japan, desiring to close the war now subsisting between them and having appointed their respective plenipotentiaries, and furnished them with full powers which were found to be in form, have come to an agreement on a treaty of peace and arranged as follows:

Article 1 stipulates for the re-establishment of peace and friendship between the sovereigns of the two empires and between the subjects of Russia and Japan, respectively.

Article 2—His majesty, the emperor of Russia, recognizes the preponderant interest from political, military and economical points of view of Japan in the empire of Korea, and stipulates that Russia will not oppose any measures for its government, protection or control that Japan will deem necessary to take in Korea in conjunction with the Korean government, but Russian subjects and Russian enterprises are to enjoy the same status as the subjects and enterprises of other countries.

Article 3—It is mutually agreed that the territory of Manchuria be simultaneously evacuated by both Russian and Japanese troops. Both countries being concerned in this evacuation, their situations being absolutely identical. All rights acquired by private persons and companies shall remain intact.

Article 4—The rights possessed by Russia in conformity with the lease by Russia of Port Arthur and Dalny, together with the lands and waters adjacent, shall pass over in their entirety to Japan, but the properties and rights of Russian subjects are to be safeguarded and respected.

Article 5—The governments of Russia and Japan engage themselves reciprocally not to put any obstacles to the general measures (which shall be alike for all nations) that China may take for the development of the commerce and industry of Manchuria.

Article 6—The Manchurian railway shall be operated jointly between Russia and Japan at Kaouang-Tcheng-Tse. The two branch lines shall be employed only for commercial and industrial purposes. In view of Russia keeping her branch line, with all rights acquired by her convention with China for the construction of that railway, Japan acquires the mines in connection with such branch line which falls to her. However, the rights of private parties or private enterprises are to be respected. Both parties to this treaty remain absolutely free to undertake what they deem fit on ex-propriated ground.

Article 7—Russia and Japan engage themselves to make a conjunction of the two branch lines which they own, at Houang-Tcheng-Tse.

Article 8—It is agreed that the branch lines of the Manchurian railway shall be worked with a view to assure commercial traffic between them without obstruction.

Article 9—Russia cedes to Japan the southern part of Sakhalin island as far north as the fiftieth degree of north latitude, together with the islands depending thereon. The right of free navigation is assured in the bays of La Perouse and Tartare.

Article 10—This article recites the situation of Russian subjects on the southern part of Sakhalin island, and stipulates that Russian colonists there shall be free and shall have the right to remain without changing their nationality. Per contra, the Japanese government shall have the right to force Russian convicts to leave the territory which is ceded to her.

Article 11—Russia engages herself to make an agreement with Japan, giving Japanese subjects the right to fish in Russian territorial waters of the sea of Japan, the sea of Okhotsk and Behring sea.

Article 12—The two high contracting parties engage themselves to renew the commercial treaty existing between the two governments prior to the war, in all its vigor, with slight modifications in details, and with a most favored nation clause.

Article 13—Russia and Japan reciprocally engage to restitute their prisoners of war on paying the real cost of keeping the same, such claim for cost to be supported by documents.

Article 14—This peace treaty shall be drawn up in two languages, French and English, the French text being evidence for the Russians, and the English text for the Japanese. In case of difficulty of interpretation the French document to be final evidence.

Article 15—The ratification of this treaty shall be countersigned by the sovereigns of the two states within 50 days after its signature. The French and American embassies shall be intermediaries between the Japanese and Russian government to announce by telegraph the ratification of the treaty.

Two additional articles were agreed to as follows:

Article 1—The evacuation of Manchuria by both armies shall be complete within 18 months from the signing of the treaty, beginning with the retirement of troops of the first line. At the expiration of the 18 months the two parties will only be able to leave as guards for the railway, 15 soldiers a kilometre.

Article 2—The boundary which limits the parts owned respectively by Russia and Japan in the Sakhalin island shall be definitely marked off on the spot by a special limitographic commission.

GOULD LINE IS OUTWITTED

the 'Frisco line, and others I might mention were similarly caused, yet Mr. Delano calls this foolishness. The expense of accidents will indicate the value of train collectors.

"I have a number of newspaper clippings that have come to me while I was away, which have been my only source of information, and of course, I can say nothing until I know the situation and have more authoritative information than these. How Mr. Gould expects to build his seaboard line, which has been rumored, the connection being by way of Western Maryland and West Virginia Central railroads, I do not know. He may be able to do it without the Little Kanawha lines. As to my own future plans, I have them, of course, but there is nothing which has taken definite form yet."

The Greene county railroad, of which Mr. Ramsey speaks, is a franchise in the possession of Mr. Ramsey, J. W. Patterson and A. M. Neeper of Pittsburgh; J. T. Blair of the Little Kanawha railroad, and E. D. Fulton of Uniontown. It was originally surveyed from Washington, Pa., through Waynesburg, and from there to the Monongahela river at Rice's landing and diverging there with two branches, one over to Uniontown, the other down the west bank of the river into West Virginia. It connected with the original survey of the Wabash by means of a huge Y, one arm extending to Hickory, the other to Bishop.

The survey has now been revised, and from a point on the Hickory branch near the village of Hickory, a new line has been located down the valley and reaching the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at a point near West Economy. By means of this surveyed line, the Lake Erie can build about 12 miles of road and connect with the located line of the Greene county railroad, thence by means of a construction of Greene county and an extension of that line, it will be able to reach the seaboard through the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. It means for Pittsburgh a seaboard line, the standard of which will be equal to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, or the "Little Giant," as its great earning power has caused it to be known.

While Mr. Ramsey will make no utterance as to his intentions or feelings in the railroad fight, it is generally anticipated among financial and railroad men that there will be some interesting developments. The Kaiser Wilhelm II., upon which Mr. Ramsey arrived, docked this afternoon and Mr. Ramsey proceeded at once to the Holland house. He was there met by A. M. Neeper, J. W. Patterson, J. T. Blair and a number of friends. He will remain in New York all this week and will stop in Pittsburgh on his way west the early part of next week.

Many Pittsburghers were on the Kaiser this trip, among them being H. C. Frick and George Westinghouse. W. D. Uptegraff was here from Pittsburgh and met Mr. Westinghouse at the pier, and they had a short conversation. Mr. Westinghouse left at once for his country home at Lenox, Mass.

Pittsburgher Elected National Commander of Ex-Prisoners of War

COL. J. D. WALKER.

DENVER, Sept. 5.—The National Association of Union ex-Prisoners of War held its annual session today and elected the following officers: National commander, Col. J. D. Walker, Pittsburgh; national senior vice commander, John T. Parker, Lynn, Mass.; national chaplain, Rev. John S. Ferguson, Keokuk, Ia.; national historian, Gen. Harry White, Indiana, Pa.; adjutant general and quartermaster general, W. C. McKelvy, Pittsburgh. The three members of the executive committee, whose terms of office had expired, were re-elected. The association indorsed the Dalzell pension bill, which provides for a service pension for ex-Union prisoners of $2 a day for the time of imprisonment and $12 a month during life, and the same amount to widows during widowhood.

During the parade, Gen. Harry White of Indiana, Pa., historian of the National Association of Union ex-Prisoners of War, was thrown from his horse, which reared at the approach of an aide to the marshal of the parade. He fell heavily to the pavement, but insisted on being allowed to continue in the parade. There was a cut on his left leg, but he was not seriously hurt.

RIVAL TUNNEL CONCERNS GIVEN HEARING AT HARRISBURG

ment he ended the discussion by withdrawing the charter application.

Another surprise was the entering of a protest by Attorney John S. Weller of the Flinn interests, on behalf of the Freight Tunnel Company chartered a year ago, against the Fording-Morse East End Tunnel Company. Mr. Weller claimed that, reasoning by the same logic which Mr. Fording used in his contest against the Flinn Fifth Avenue Tunnel Company, there would be a conflict of interest at Grant street, between Oliver and Sixth avenues, and that the Freight Tunnel Company has prior rights.

Fording Presents Protest.

Mr. Fording was matched against two other interests yesterday, but he appeared single-handed. The hearing opened shortly before 2 o'clock with the statement of the Fording protests against a charter being granted to the Flinn Fifth Avenue Tunnel Company. In his argument Mr. Fording went over the ground already explained in The Gazette, claiming that a company chartered under the tunnel act has no authority to build a subway for passenger railway purposes beneath the surface of a city street. The protests were in the names of the incorporators of the Pittsburgh Subway Company and of Theodore E. Ihrig, a Fifth avenue property holder.

When street railways were named, Mr. Whitworth called Mr. Fording's attention to the fact that no such purpose is mentioned in the charter application of the tunnel company and could not, therefore, be considered in the granting of the charter. Mr. Fording explained his views on the subject of a street being devoted to the public use to whatever depth may be necessary and that a subway in the purpose of the act of 1901 for elevated and underground lines is intended for "the basement floor of the street."

Answer By Attorney Martin.

Attorney Richard W. Martin, on behalf of the Fifth Avenue Tunnel Company, answered the protests, saying in part:

"There is no merit in the contention that this company wishes to build an underground railway, as can be seen from a mere reading of the application for a charter. This application is not made under the act of 1901, but under the act of 1874 and supplements, and the company asks and claims no rights under the act of 1901. There can be no doubt that a tunnel company organized under the act of 1874 has a right to construct its tunnel under and along the streets of a city. There is nothing in the constitution restricting its rights so to do and the acts under which it is incorporated contain no such restrictions."

Mr. Martin said that the protest of Mr. Fording raised questions which should be settled in court and not at this time and place.

After Mr. Martin had finished Mr. Whitworth remarked that it looked like both charters should be granted. It was at this point that Mr. Weller entered his protest against the East End Tunnel Company on behalf of the Freight Tunnel Company. To this objection Mr. Fording said:

Claims Notices Give Rights.

"If there is any merit in that kind of objection, I might forever keep out all others from Pittsburgh by securing blanket charters for all streets like this Freight Tunnel Company did below Grant street."

Then followed the hearing of the protest of Mr. Fording against the extensions of the Pittsburgh Railways Company lines on the streets in Bellefield and the East End, for which charter advertisements are now being made by the Fording interests. The question whether the publication of such advertisements gives to a new company a right of priority was hotly discussed, and there seemed to be an agreement that there was an equitable right involved. At the same time, it was stated by Mr. Whitworth, the law of 1905, regulating the advertising of such applications and the method of filing extensions was explicit, and while the law might be unjust in that it does not require the advertising of extensions, it is nevertheless the law and can be remedied only by the legislature.

Mr. Fording clung strongly to his point that in making such advertisements as were forced by the law, he obtained a right which could not be overlooked.

Finish of Independent Lines.

"If the interpretation is not that which I claim, the fate of the traction facilities of the city of Pittsburgh, the city of Philadelphia or the city of Harrisburg is sealed," he said. "There is no possible way by which a new company can secure an entrance. Forced by the law to advertise its route for three weeks, it merely furnishes to the rival interest already established the information by which it can authorize an extension of its existing lines and block the independent plans. I claim that the great state of Pennsylvania owes to its citizens better protection than this; it owes a right for a fairer deal than is possible under that reading of the law, and I claim that the law can be interpreted justly only in the way I state, a right being granted to those who form a company and advertise their plans."

Mr. Fording ended his argument with the rather sensational statement that the Pittsburgh Railways Company under its charter is authorized to handle freight as well as passenger traffic and that a street railway company is therefore forbidden to connect with it.

Pittsburgh Railway's Answer.

The answer on behalf of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was made by Attorney E. H. Wert of Harrisburg, who was assisted by Secretary W. B. Carson of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. They denied the existence of the Fording companies until the charters were granted and claimed the right to be granted extensions as desired. Mr. Wert pointed out that only questions of law, not questions of fact, are considered in the charter hearings. There was a dispute over one of the Pittsburgh Railways Company lines having obtained a franchise for its main line, although it was admitted that a branch had received local sanction.

The hearing ended with the submission of a mass of petitions, protests and briefs to Mr. Whitworth. It is expected that a decision on the granting of the charters will be reached in the course of a fortnight.

The question having been raised by the Fording interests as to the reason for the Flinn interests seeking a tunnel charter rather than an underground railway charter, Attorney Weller made last evening the following statement:

Why Tunnel Charters Are Asked.

"There are several good reasons for our seeking tunnel rather than underground passenger railway charters. First, the underground railway charters are authorized to handle only passenger traffic. A tunnel company can handle any kind of traffic and in this case there can be little doubt that package delivery will be a large factor in the work of the tunnel company. It will mean a great convenience to the downtown stores in reaching their Bellefield, East End and other customers. Conduits of all kinds can likewise lease space and there are other fields still. Secondly, a tunnel is not forced to follow the tortuous windings of a street, but can build directly for the point it intends to reach. Thirdly, no municipal franchise is required for a tunnel company.

"That our tunnel company already chartered to build from Seventh avenue and the Grant boulevard to Craig street will be willing to hear a proposition from the Pittsburgh Railways Company in due time, I have no doubt. It will be in a position to offer to that company the solution of the Pittsburgh-East End traction problem."

MAKES ARCANUM SOLID.

Pennsylvania State Regent Says Action at Put-In-Bay Puts It On Sound Financial Basis.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 5.—Frank B. Wickersham, state regent of the Royal Arcanum, returned here today from the special meeting of the supreme council at Put-in-Bay, O., which was called to take action on the protest made against the advanced rates passed at the regular meeting at Atlantic City last spring.

Mr. Wickersham said that the effect of the action of the council in declining to revoke the decision of the Atlantic City meeting would be to make every member feel assured that he, if he lives 10 or 50 years, when he comes to die the money will be in the treasury to pay him, because the increased rates would allow the fraternity to pay all its death claims now and in the future.

Award Pittsburgh Firm Contract.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Chief Engineer Brown of the Pennsylvania railroad today awarded to W. F. Trimble & Co. of Pittsburgh the contract for a large freight yard at Pittsburgh in connection with the Duquesne way improvements. The operation will involve an expenditure of about $50,000. In addition to the yard there will be two large freight warehouses.

SOUTHEAST CAUCASUS IS HELD BY TARTARS

Refugees Are Pouring in Tiflis from Several Points—People Are Frightened.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

TIFLIS, Sept. 5.—The whole of the Southeast Caucasus is now terrorized by Tartars. Refugees are pouring in here from Baku, Elizabethpol and Shusha.

Details from Shusha show that several engagements were fought between Tartars and Armenians behind regular positions and that a considerable part of the town was soon in flames. According to an official estimate more than 200 houses were destroyed.

BAKU, Sept. 5.—Troops under the direction of the governor are acting with the utmost vigor, but they have not succeeded in restoring order, although there is rather less firing. Armed rioters today attacked the oil works in the suburb of Balakhan, and after a hot fight set fire to them.

KUTIAS, CAUCASUS, Sept. 5.—A conflict between nobles and peasants took place today, in the village of Grandiet. Eleven persons were killed or wounded.

NEW ORLEANS AGAIN HOPES FOR VICTORY

Believes Fever Has Been Conquered. Vicksburg Has Six New Cases. One Death in Atlanta.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—The yellow fever report for today is: New cases, 31; total to date, 2,111; deaths, 2; total, 294; new foci, 9; cases under treatment, 339; cases discharged, 1,487.

The impression which Monday's unexpected leap in new cases caused gave way to a feeling of intense satisfaction today when there was renewed evidence that yellow fever here is almost completely under control. Some of the physicians are inclined to take issue with the statement that Dr. Berges' arrest influenced them to a more thorough report of existing cases, but whatever the cause, it is the belief now, both among the federal authorities and the public at large, that henceforth perfect faith may be placed in the accuracy of the daily figures.

ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 5.—J. C. Carruthers, who arrived from Pensacola last Friday suffering from yellow fever, and who was sent to the detention hospital several miles from the city, died today. No other cases have reached here.

NATCHEZ, Sept. 5.—One new case of fever was reported today and three patients were discharged, leaving two under treatment.

VICKSBURG, MISS., Sept. 5.—With six new cases of yellow fever, today's record was the worst since the disease made its appearance here. Of the new cases five are white, one of them a prominent lawyer.

CAN REPEAL VACATION.

City Solicitor Porter Tells Allegheny Surveys Committee What Councils Can Do With School Street.

Stephen G. Porter, city solicitor of Allegheny, last night presented to the committee on surveys his opinion on the right of councils to repeal the vacation of a part of School street. School street was vacated two years ago, and those who opposed the measure are now seeking to have the vacation repealed, as the street, if vacated, will revert to the Pittsburgh & Western Railway Company, the owner of the property on both sides of the street. An ordinance repealing the vacation was before the committee which had asked Mr. Porter for an opinion.

The city solicitor said that no board of viewers had been appointed, no damages or benefits assessed, and therefore no viewers' report presented to court. Under the law councils could repeal a vacation ordinance any time within 30 days after a viewers' report had been filed in court, therefore councils could repeal the vacation ordinance. The ordinance was ordered printed. Action was postponed on the ordinance vacating Church avenue, from Federal street to Union avenue, for park purposes, and widening Stockton avenue. A number of ordinances for grading and naming streets was ordered printed.

WANT AN INJUNCTION.

Millvale Council to Fight P. R. R. for Land Along Butler Plank Road.

Millvale council last night instructed Borough Solicitor C. E. Theobald to apply for an injunction restraining the Pennsylvania railroad from occupying a strip of land along the Butler plank road near the Willow Grove yards. The solicitor will make application on behalf of the Butler plank road and Allegheny county as well as the borough of Millvale. Mr. Theobald told council last night that the original plans of the Butler plank road could not be found, as they had mysteriously disappeared from Harrisburg, and were said to be stolen. The railroad company claims to be in possession of the plans now, and that according to the plans, the company is entitled to the territory in dispute.

John Welthaus, who was elected to Millvale council last February, and took his seat under protest, last night resigned, giving as his reason the recent decision of court that no person engaged in liquor business may hold a public office.

PRESS CLUB MAKES MERRY.

Members and Friends Enjoy a Night Devoted to Pleasure.

Members of the Press club and their friends to the number of about 150 enjoyed a "Night in Bohemia" last night in the club rooms in Smithfield street. The event was held in celebration of the reopening of the house, which has been remodeled throughout.

Enjoyable entertainment was furnished by the friends of the club, including Patrick Conley, leader of the Ithaca band, with Harry Dillman, Ross Millhouse, A. Socke, R. Boxheimer, Ben McGinney, G. Simons, Douglass Ruthven of the Sho Gun company, at the Nixon, sang several fine selections. John E. Kelly, Harry Hammill and Dan McCarthy, from the Bijou, did several acts, and Mr. Vankirk entertained with the graphophone. Refreshments were served and the fun ran well into the morning.

Is a Fire Chief for an Hour.

Albert Nenions, a driver for Graham's livery, and R. F. McElroy, a city fireman of 218 Center avenue, were arrested early this morning for driving recklessly through the streets of the South Side. It is alleged that McElroy was drunk and thought that he would impersonate the fire chief, so he telephoned to the livery for a rig, saying that his buggy had broken, and started for Thirty-fourth and Carson streets to attend a fire.

MONONGAHELA ROAD MAY FIGURE IN A NEW ROUTE

Ramsey-Schoonmaker March to Sea from Pittsburgh Is Full of Interest for Pittsburgh.

It is probable that before Mr. Ramsey comes to Pittsburgh, early next week, as announced in a telegram from New York, he will meet in the east with Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, who is the most directly interested purchaser of the Little Kanawha properties. Col. Schoonmaker has been at his summer home at Spring Lake, N. J., several weeks, having gone there a couple of days after he made an inspection of the Little Kanawha properties, built and proposed, in West Virginia. It was stated at the Lake Erie offices yesterday that the date of his return is not definitely known. From his having declined to make a statement in regard to the propositions in the future development of the Little Kanawha lines and coal properties until Mr. Ramsey's return, the fact that Mr. Ramsey has returned and the two railway managers and promoters will meet, make the next few days full of interest for Pittsburgh.

In this connection the change of operating heads of the Monongahela railroad, which was made yesterday, and which is outlined in detail in another column, has an inkling of something more than the mere change of one superintendent for another. G. H. Ober, who becomes superintendent of the Monongahela railroad, is a "Little Giant" man, trained under Col. Schoonmaker. John Ewaire, the retiring superintendent of the Monongahela railroad, was a Pennsylvania man prior to his becoming superintendent of the Monongahela road, at its inception two years ago.

Whether Col. Schoonmaker is looking forward to a closer alliance of his own system with the Monongahela railroad, or whether some connection with the southerly end of the Monongahela railroad itself is to be made from the West Virginia line proposed and partly constructed (the Buckhannon & Northern railroad of the "Little Kanawha syndicate"), is not known; but it would not be surprising to find this road figuring in the Ramsey-Schoonmaker march to the sea.

Since the Monongahela railroad is owned equally by the Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad companies, the report that the Pennsylvania may be interested in the proposed outlet to the Atlantic seaboard, via the new line and the Chesapeake & Ohio, has additional interest. The Pennsylvania also owns a large block of the Chesapeake & Ohio stock.

The southerly end of the Monongahela road is at Martin, 22 miles south of Brownsville, along the easterly bank of the Monongahela river, and about 12 miles south of Rices Landing. It controls the Masontown & New Salem road and operates the Connellsville Central road, forming a circuit 61 miles long, and operating entirely about 90 miles.

It is not known whether Mr. Ramsey will attend the meeting of the board of directors of the Wabash railroad in New York today, owing to the announcement made last week by George J. Gould that he himself had been elected acting president of the Wabash to serve during the leave of absence given to Mr. Ramsey. This leave is understood to have been given until the annual meeting in October. If Mr. Ramsey does attend the meeting, something of interest may be expected, as both Mr. Gould and Frederic A. Delano will be present.

NINETEEN MAY BE DROWNED.

Steamer Iosco Thought to Have Foundered in Lake Superior With All Her Crew.

PEQUAMING, MICH., Sept. 5.—The steamer Iosco, of Cleveland, which had the unfortunate schooner Olive Jeannette in tow during the destructive storm last Sunday, will probably be added to the gradually-growing list of ships which foundered on Lake Superior during that great gale.

The Iosco was commanded by Capt. Nelson Gonyaw and carried a crew of 19 men. The loss of the crew of the Iosco would bring the total of those who lost their lives in the storm to 73, a number which may be increased, as several boats known to have been out in the gale have not yet reported.

Broken Belt Fractures Skull.

William G. Miller, aged 47, and single, an engineer at the Monessen Foundry and Machine Company's plant at Monessen, had his skull fractured yesterday afternoon by a broken belt. He was brought to the Allegheny General hospital last night, where his skull was trephined. It is thought he will recover.

WINKLER WILL NOT SUE EXPO SOCIETY

Fiance of Jeanette Lawrence, Who Was Killed at "Fighting the Flames," Tells Story.

JURY PLACES BLAME ON GIRL

John Winkler, the fiance of Jeanette Lawrence, the young woman killed Monday night at the "Fighting the Flames" show at the Exposition, last night denied that he was going to bring legal action against the Exposition society to recover damages for Miss Lawrence's death.

"I don't know who started that story," said Winkler, at his home, 6 Beckert avenue, Allegheny. "I never said any such thing and never authorized anyone to say it for me. It is true I was engaged to be married to Miss Lawrence and our wedding would have taken place early in November. Her death came as a terrible shock to me, but I have never contemplated any action against the Exposition society. There seems to be no doubt that no fault of the management caused the accident. Mr. Hagen, manager of the show, was very kind to my mother and me when he met us and told us to go and choose a casket for Jeanette. Mr. Hagen has made arrangements for the funeral and we will attend.

"Miss Lawrence had no relatives that I know of. Frequently I heard her say all her relatives were dead. She was a native of New Jersey and years ago lived somewhere near Paterson. We were on the road together all last year, the team name being Ray and Lawrence, in 'Silence and Fun.' We were under the management of the Continental Exposition Amusement Company and were preparing to go out with a new show early in November, following our wedding."

Coroner Armstrong held an inquest yesterday into the death of the young woman. The verdict was that Miss Lawrence came to her death by accident. John Winkler told what he knew of the girl and his associations with her. John Hearn, the fireman whose part in the show was to rescue Miss Lawrence from the burning building, testified that she had been repeatedly warned not to exercise such haste in making the leap. James L. Conner and John Murphy, the firemen who were in the third floor of the burning building, and who prevented Hearn from falling after Miss Lawrence had thrown herself at him, corroborated Hearn's story. Claude L. Hagen, manager of the show, explained the parts of and the apparatus. In the opinion of Coroner Armstrong everything indicated that no one was at fault but the unfortunate young woman.

Miss Lawrence was in Pittsburgh for some time last winter. She was possessed of considerable physical beauty and posed for students of the Stevenson Art school. Some of the sketches and drawings of Miss Lawrence are on exhibition at the Exposition.

The Exposition management yesterday sent out a statement explaining the safeguards used to protect the lives of the participants and spectators at the "Fighting the Flames" show. The board of fire underwriters and the department of public safety officials were satisfied with the safety of everything before the first performance. The funeral of Miss Lawrence will be held tomorrow.

GIVING BACK THE MONEY ONCE PAID TO THE CITY

Finance Committee Recommends Refunding of Various Sums—Aspinwall Petition Approved.

At a meeting of the councilmanic committee on finance yesterday the sub-committee on rebates and salaries recommended the refunding of a number of sums paid into the city treasury. One was the franchise tax of $1,016 paid by the Western Union Telegraph Company, the tax having since been declared unconstitutional. Another was a property tax assessed against the Thirteenth United Presbyterian church on property in the Thirty-first ward. A resolution to remove a water meter from the Palace laundry was also affirmatively recommended.

A bill for $26.68, the costs assessed by a jury against Policeman S. E. Gilgerson, who was attacked by eight men and who sued two alleged to belong to the gang, was affirmatively recommended. The jury acquitted the two men accused by Gilgerson. In the resolution recommending the payment the committee commended Gilgerson for his bravery.

The ordinance sanctioning the petition for annexation presented by the borough of Aspinwall to the court was affirmatively recommended, as was one authorizing the laying of water pipe in Thomas street. A bill of $1,287 for gas furnished to the pest house by the Philadelphia Company was referred to a special committee. Controller Larkin has refused to pay the bill.

CHOLERA MOVES THROUGH EUROPE

OFFICERS DARE DO ANYTHING

Thus Is Outraged Womanhood Greeted by One of the City's Valiant Protectors.

WALLACE SEEKING REVENGE

That woman told the newspapers about the officer trying to kiss her and I will hound her out of the city.

Superintendent Alexander Wallace made this statement in connection with the case of Policeman James Kilgallon, who is charged with having attempted to kiss and assault Mrs. M. B. Dick of 234 Frankstown avenue, several weeks ago in Ellsworth avenue near Spahr street. He will have a hearing before the police board this morning. Superintendent Wallace is determined that the dignity of his force shall not be assailed, and it is stated his officers have used every means to prevent Mrs. Dick from testifying against Kilgallon.

Superintendent Alexander Wallace.

Policeman Kilgallon's stories of the affair differ. When he was first charged with the assault Kilgallon told Superintendent Wallace Mrs. Dick was impudent to him. He was then informed by his superior officers that if Mrs. Dick was uncivil or refused to give him an explanation about being on the street at a late hour, he should have arrested her and not attempted to assault her.

Then it is said Kilgallon told Capt. Callen he did not meet Mrs. Dick or any other woman in the morning of the alleged offense. However, Mrs. Dick carried marks on her face where she says the officer bit her, and she was bruised about the back. In spite of these charges Superintendent Wallace seems more inclined to prosecute the woman than to make an impartial investigation of the affair.

However, the district attorney is interested in the outcome of the affair and if the trial board does not give Mrs. Dick's complaint a thorough investigation, other proceedings will be started. Mrs. Dick was with some friends in an automobile party on the evening of the assault. They were late in arriving home and Mrs. Dick assisted her friend to put the children to bed. She waited on the corner for a car for a time and then thinking she could reach home before a car came along she started to walk. While on the way she alleges the officer stopped her, and asked what she was doing on the street so late.

Mrs. Dick explained and the officer is said to have laughed and said:

"Come here, and give me a little kiss."

Mrs. Dick said the policeman caught hold of her and in his attempt to bestow a kiss bit her face. Mrs. Dick upbraided him and said:

"I am surprised that an officer would dare to do such a thing."

To this the officer is alleged to have replied:

"An officer dare do anything."

PROVIDE FOR EDUCATION OF FATHERLESS CHILDREN

Allegheny School Controllers Permit Boy and Girl to Attend High School Without Charge.

By the action of the Allegheny board of school controllers at its meeting last night, a fatherless boy and girl will be enabled to complete their educations within the city schools without paying the required tuition.

By an unanimous vote, Isabella Moay, now in the Odd Fellows' orphanage in Ben Avon, who had been a pupil of the Allegheny schools all her life, will be permitted to enter High school for the purpose of securing the education necessary to qualify her in assisting her mother and younger sisters. The president of the home warmly thanked the controllers for their action.

The same privileges were extended to Harry E. Karch, a Sixth ward boy, whose father died recently. He and his mother have moved to Bellevue, but he was permitted to finish his High school course gratuitously.

Charles Angney presided last night in the absence of President David B. Oliver. The industrial committee recommended the employment of two industrial teachers in the Eleventh ward school and the same number in the High school. The resignation of Prof. C. B. Connelly, now head of the School of Apprentices and Journeymen of the Carnegie Technical schools, and formerly of the Allegheny schools, was accepted with regrets. The industrial committee was ordered instructed to look for a suitable man to fill the vacancy.

JOHN EARL HULL DYING FROM ITALIAN'S BLOWS

Supt. Wallace's Son-in-Law Will Not Survive Injuries Received in Grant Street Brawl.

John Earl Hull, son-in-law of Supt. Wallace of the police bureau, is dying at the Homeopathic hospital from a fractured skull received in a fight with Joseph Perilli, an Italian, early yesterday morning in Grant stret. The Italian is being held to await the result of Hull's injuries. John Francis, James Wilson and George Morgan, who were with Hull at the time of the assault, are being held as witnesses.

It is alleged Hull's friends took some fruit from Perilli's stand. The Italian picked up a chair and attempted to strike the boys when Hull interfered. The Italian then struck Hull in the face, knocking him down. In the fall Hull's head struck the curbing, fracturing his skull. Hull was married about three years ago, and has a daughter 18 months old. On November 26, 1902, he was appointed clerk in the mailing department of the Pittsburgh postoffice, but resigned his position May 17, last. He is a graduate of the East Liberty academy and is a well-known athlete and baseball player.

New Black and Colored Dress Woolens

It is pretty well understood that sheer materials are going to be worn right through the cold season, and that means that linings are coming into favor again. Especially will the drop skirt be in high favor this Autumn and Winter.

Our buyer of dress goods had carte blanche to purchase heavily of the most popular weaves of these sheer goods, and we have much pleasure in asking women to see the finest collection of imported dress fabrics ever brought across the water.

This is notably true in broadcloths. We don't think there was ever such a sumptuous variety in this city. And the sheer broadcloth is such a versatile cloth, if we may say it—from the handsomest society gown down to the most modest house garment, it is equally admirable.

Take time enough today to look over some of the new numbers.

52-inch chiffon weight Broadcloth, high lustrous finish, exhibited in 15 different colors, including the new shades of plum, purple, wine, green, blue, cream, black, specially priced at $2.00 a yard.

45-inch German Henrietta, in a complete range of colors, an exquisite material for making up into the fashionable dress, and the price is only 75c a yard.

44-inch French Serge in blue, green, wine and garnet, as well as brown, black and cream 75c a yard.

45-inch all-wool Taffeta Cloth, a weave that will appeal to tasty dressers, in all the new Paris shades, $1.00 a yard.

As a distinctive offer, we have new all-wool and silk and wool Plaids and Shepherd Suitings for, a yard........................45c

Very Special—New Chiffon Eoliennes, twenty different colors from which to select, including black and cream, a yard.. 50c

Our New Black and Colored Silks.

With the coming of Autumn also comes word that plaids are going to be very popular this season. You are glad of it? So are we. No silk sets the feminine form so gracefully as the pattern of plaid.

Trust to our Silk section to show plaids in variety, either of foreign weave or domestic weave.

Aside from the plaids, all the new colors and the new weaves that have been thought appropriate for the Autumn and Winter season are here in abundance, and we ask you to investigate their character as well as the prices at which they are sold.

Would take it as a favor if you will specially examine the following:

The new Plaid Silks with satin stripes in Persian colors, also with broche figures;

The new Shepherd Check Silks, sort of half cousins of the plaids, with cashmere colors and satin stripes;

The new Louisine Diamont, heretofore in great favor, a luminous silk with a very soft finish;

The new Taffeta Rayonnaut, a very bright and a very soft taffeta;

The new plain and fancy moire Velours, and the new Roman Stripe Taffeta with large broche figures;

All the above are silks that will command your admiration. There are others however, that have no mention.

VERY SPECIAL—On a special table today there will be a gathering of Plaid Silks, and they are fine silks in their grade. Their value is $1.25, and ordinarily we would charge that for them; but desiring to favor you with something handsome in the way of a special, we say for them, a yard........................85c

Among the new Black Silks which have been collected for the recognition of Pittsburg women, the new weaves from the famous French mills of C. J. Bonnet, might be brought forward. Among them are

BLACK ANTHENIENNE,
BLACK MOIRE ANTIQUE,
BLACK MOIRE FACONNE,
BLACK FAILLE CHIFFON VENISE,
BLACK MOIRE VELOUR,

and a host of other new and appropriate blacks that will be extended a cordial welcome.

SPECIAL—Fine grade of yard wide Black Taffeta, a grade that we sell regularly for $1.00, that price being very low for it, will be out today, a yard........................85c

In closing the talk on silks, we desire to call your attention to the fact that velvets will be more generally used this season than for some years back, and like the dress goods, some of them will be quite sheer—for instance, the chiffon velvets and chiffon velours. We have these in ever so many colors, and we also have Paon Velvets and Velveteens, with a chiffon finish. Chiffon texture seems to be the thing.

An Autumn Coat Show for Women.

To the thousands of Pittsburg women who are looking around, undecided yet as to the style of wrap they will adopt, to the other thousands who will be here at various times to visit the Exposition, we offer a most superb collection of Coats in all lengths, from the natty little jacket to the swagger raincoat.

As an aid to making up your mind, our lines will commend themselves.

Never was a handsomer, better or more comprehensive stock shown in Pittsburg. From the least expensive top garment to the very finest imported, all have thorough representation here.

The semi-fitting Coats in tweeds, homespuns and Scotch mixtures will be the leading style for this season, some are made with full backs, some half fitting and all with new kinks in some part of their make-up. Almost too many ideas to mention in detail, but you can make a note of this: If you buy a tweed coat you will know you are right.

$10 Fifty Tweed Coats are here this morning for the one round price of $10 each. They represent a line of new shapes for early Fall. Light and dark gray, and oxford and tan. New shaped backs, new sleeves, velvet collar. Just a weight for between-seasons. Sorry we haven't five times as many more.

Wednesday, September 6, 1905.

A child was run over in the street by a recklessly driven horse and cart, yesterday. The wonder is that this sort of accident is not reported more frequently. Drivers in this city race over crossings in a manner that would not be tolerated in many towns, where pedestrian rights are upheld. There ought to be reform here.

Director Moore has asked for a test of eight fenders in addition to those listed by the railways company. The public will await the result with intense interest. This is a life and death matter and there ought to be assurance that the very best fender will be chosen, regardless of first cost. The ordinance calls for no less.

In the most disturbed portion of Russia lies the Baku oil fields. By reason of the riots and insurrections in that region the oil fields have been comparatively inactive and many fires have occurred, destroying much property. These matters are of peculiar interest in this country as they have relieved the pressure of foreign competition at a time that it threatened to be serious. The American overproduction would have been more felt than it has been had Russia continued active. It is, indeed, an ill wind that blows nobody good.

Famine threatens India again, and the British government is preparing to give relief. Famine and India are inseparable in the public mind. Britain has done something to mitigate conditions, but has not been as successful as in its administration of Egyptian affairs. The people of India are blamable in large part for their periodical misfortunes, because they resist British measures for material improvement, yet there is a heavy load of responsibility on the administration. The Indian famine is the blot on British colonial management.

At Portsmouth, yesterday, the treaty of peace was signed by the Russian and Japanese envoys. The text, finally made public, is substantially as reported in detail during the conferences. We have little doubt the treaty will be promptly ratified by the emperors, though there is much display of opposition in Japan. Some of that is for effect. The Japanese are wily and have not dispensed entirely with oriental characteristics. The Russian boast that Japan had to make peace because exhausted is as much "make-believe" as the Japanese "revolt."

Approach of councils sessions is indicated by the meeting of committees. Considerable business was transacted yesterday, some of it important. One of the most interesting items to the general public is that noting approval of the petition of Aspinwall for annexation to the city. This will be the first expansion to the north side of the Allegheny river and though the administration may design to bring in the filtration workers as voters it is not likely there will be much opposition to the annexation. It is one step more toward the Greater Pittsburgh.

In Germany it is reported Japan has concluded a secret treaty with China, whereby the Celestial kingdom will maintain an army increasing annually from 100,000 men under Japanese officers. In England it is reported Germany has made a secret treaty with Russia affecting the far east. Elsewhere it has been noted that Great Britain has made a new secret treaty with Japan. Europe is, apparently, of the opinion that more trouble is coming in the orient, and of more serious character. Possibly. But one way to secure peace is to make war too terrible to contemplate. A general war would be of that character.

While The Gazette is merely an interested spectator of the political struggle going on in Philadelphia, it cannot help noting some queer developments. One of these is the applause given by the "anti-machine people" to the employment of the police in political work. It is not long since the same people were condemning political activity on the part of the police as almost the worst crime in the calendar. It makes a difference, apparently, who controls the police. The battle is a hard one, purely for political advantage, and the "anti-machine people" may be excused for applauding the dragging of the police into the arena.

Negligent Assessors.

About 100 register assessors in Allegheny county neglected their duty yesterday. They were not at the polling places with their lists for correction. They are liable in the sum of $50 to $200 for this neglect, but the fact has not sufficed to awaken them to their duty. They may escape the penalty solely because no persons in their districts will take enough interest in the matter to prosecute them. In many districts no citizens went to the polling place to see if they or their neighbors were registered. The May lists will go to the polls with all of their imperfections on them.

In face of such conditions there is quite a row raised about personal registration by a bunch of politicians who are probably not on the assessors' lists and who have not gone to the polling places to learn the fact. They have not had time. A good many of those who talk loudest never vote, anyway. Some of them never pay taxes. Personal registration means that every citizen who desires to vote must go in person to the polling place—registry booth, for the time—and register himself. In practice this system secures the registration of every organization man and a few others. It is a proper system, as The Gazette has always contended, because it will deprive of a vote those shouting reformers who think everything is going to the dogs because they never know the dates when primaries are held, when conventions nominate candidates, or even when general elections occur.

In Criminal Court.

Criminal court opened for the fall term yesterday with the usual accessories. It promises to be an interesting session. There was the usual parade of unseeing constables and probably more than the usual number were ordered back to their districts to investigate special matter of which the court or the district attorney's office had knowledge. This quarterly exhibition is the strongest kind of proof of the necessity for reform in our system of minor justice. The constable who fails to report from his district evils of such proportion that reach to the knowledge of judges on the bench is conspicuously derelict, either in apprehension or in the performance of his duty.

Among the cases to come up during this term are those pertaining to vice and graft in Allegheny. These should all be pressed to conclusion. A fair beginning has been made toward cleaning up the North Side city in face of opposition on the part of the city administration and the job should be completed. Up to the present time the effort has been to get the men "higher up." That course has been proper. Yet it is wise in bringing him down to take the ground from under him. Along this line there may be interesting developments.

Billboard Indecency.

It is too early to predict the outcome financially, artistically or popularly of the present theatrical season, but if there are to be degrees downward in the progress of the lithograph advertisements of the theaters the season promises to be a record-breaker in the indecent suggestiveness of the billboards. The billboard is fast becoming, if it has not already become, a civic eyesore, a nuisance in its general aspect, but when those destroyers of the urban vista have added to them the suggestions of the imaginative and conscienceless promoter of "show" lithographs, the situation is one that calls for municipal interference.

The theater is not so black or red as it is painted on the billboards. The law mercifully bars from the stage what it winks at on the board fence in many gaudy colors. Two evils grow out of this laxity. The theater is more thoroughly condemned as an institution by decent, moral people, and the salacious tastes of the immoral are given a freer license.

With the flood of so-called "disrobing" acts and the frantic competition in the clotheless ballet shows there should be some sensible censorship of the billboards. The public schools are open and thousands of boys and girls are having their education mixed with "picture views," on their way to school, that poison the wells of pure instruction. The billboard nuisance should be abated.

Kicking Against Prosperity.

"Go into any great city or factory town at morning or evening and you will find an army of girls with dinner baskets in hand trudging to and from work. Is the country prosperous when the girls have to become breadwinners at an early age in order to piece out the family income?" That sounds very Bryanesque, and being found in The Commoner it is natural to suppose Mr. Bryan inspired the words, if he did not pen them himself. The point that he tries to evolve shows to what desperate straits the once "peerless leader" has been reduced to make a fling at the prosperous times we are having.

Bryan has never forgiven the country for not fulfilling his prediction that it would go to the dogs if he were not elected. Ever since 1897 he has been moaning and groaning over what he calls a false prosperity. With a stubbornness worthy of a better cause he has refused to admit that the country is enjoying good times. The inquiry propounded scarcely deserves an answer, but the most appropriate reply would be to ask a question: Was it possible in the dark days of Democratic free trade times for either girl or man to find employment at anything?

It surely is a sign of prosperity when Mr. Bryan finds girls with "dinner baskets trudging to and from work." In the years of 1893-6, those somber periods so eloquently described as days of "hunger, horror and misery," there was no trudging done except in hunting for work that was not to be obtained. Neither was the dinner basket nor bucket in evidence then.

Another Seaboard Route.

It is rather startling news, the way Joseph Ramsey puts it, that Gould has now no route for his outlet to the sea. The purchase by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie of the Little Kanawha route was noted some time ago, but its full significance was not apparent until this announcement by Mr. Ramsey that the Greene county route has gone with the Little Kanawha to the same interest. This means the "community of interests" has closed the gap between the Wabash and the Western Maryland, and has taken the valuable coal rights with it.

It does not follow, however, as Mr. Ramsey indicates, that Mr. Gould will not get to the Atlantic seaboard. There is a great deal of territory between Pittsburgh and the Atlantic ocean not covered by railroad tracks. Mr. Gould is resourceful. He may find the way. He may find it uncovered, even, by electric railway franchises. Pittsburgh will be gratified by the knowledge that it is to have another seaboard line by way of the "Little Giant." That is so much gained. If it gets another through Mr. Gould, so much the better. Pittsburgh tonnage will keep pace with all of the roads that can radiate from the region.

Insured Idleness.

Insurance seems to take hold of everything and every object, ranging from the stubbing of the big toe nail to the climax of death. As varied as the insurable schemes are in this country it is, perhaps, left to Switzerland to furnish one of the most unique forms. In that tight little republic a prosperous company is maintained by insurance against the non-employment of working people.

Really it serves a twofold purpose of most commendable economy. None but the provident workingman can be a beneficiary, because he is the only one who could meet the premiums on a policy against his enforced idleness. Again the scheme is an incentive to the laborer in the days of his hire to sober him for the reflection of the "rainy day" guarantee. The loafing days in this country have been so few of late years that this particular insurance scheme might not be so successful as it is in small employment countries.

A new candidate for popular favor is the daily Scottdale Independent. It is the outgrowth of a successful weekly paper under the same name. The first number is neat typographically, clean in its advertising columns and bright in its news and editorial departments. There ought to be a fallow field for a daily paper in Scottdale and the Independent gives evidence of ability to cultivate it.

The advocates of the Poe disfranchising amendment in Maryland have turned turtle and now claim it is aimed at the ignorant "foreign class" of Baltimore. The members of Senator Gorman's syndicate for the preservation of office "for ourselves alone," should go through the woods again, and scare up another rabbit of more plausible characteristics.

It is a surprise to find the erudite New York Sun enumerating the state flowers and omitting the rhododendron of West Virginia. There are eight states with official floral emblems and that of the Mountain state is by no means the least beautiful.

Candidate Berry will stump the state and Boss Hall is carefully arranging his itinerary to keep him out of reach of Prohibition meetings.

Presidental booms at this stage of the game are harmless. The booms that boom large in the early spring of 1908 will be worth watching.

"Uncle" Joe Cannon is having songs named after him. They are not so picturesque, however, as some of Uncle Joe's prose utterances.

A PREACHMENT BY THE QUIET OBSERVER

Touching on the Toothbrush and Other Aids to Ill-Health.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

You may regard it as sacrilege to say anything against the toothbrush, and it may be so, but the thing isn't above criticism.

The wonder is that it hasn't been read out by the germ theorists before this, for as a germ catcher it has few, if any, equals.

As you know, or rather as you have been told by those who do know, or profess to know, the mouth is well stocked with germs, bacilli and microbes of every breed or brand.

It is through this portal that nearly everything, good, bad and indifferent, gets into the human body. Some things are breathed in, but with the prevalence of mouth breathing, even these pass in by practically the same route. Thus it is that all sorts and kinds of microbes are gathered up by the toothbrush, and carefully preserved for future use.

It is claimed by some who have looked into the matter deeply and carefully, that microbes take very kindly to brushes, particularly to those in which the bristles are set in bone, for bone is so porous that it affords them fine nesting places.

Even the bristles are said to offer special inducements for these little pests to burrow into their moist surfaces, and seek shelter in their hollow inside. Of course, you know that no matter how fine a hair may be it is hollow. While this tube is very small yet it appears larger to a microbe than a railroad tunnel does to a man.

The mere fact of the toothbrush catching and harboring microbes is not as dreadful as it might seem at first thought, for you are bound to get them from somewhere. If you don't you will die.

Possibly you may have gotten the idea that microbes are deadly things, and that in order to live you must make a constant war of extermination against them. This appears to be the popular notion, and the people cannot be greatly blamed for getting it, since the microbe crank has been working overtime for several years.

And then, cranks are mainly of the pessimistic sort, not being able to see good in anything, but calamity in all things.

Clear-headed, reasonable investigators have been telling us right along that microbes are absolutely essential to life, so much so that without them we would die of starvation, for even our digestion, and the proper assimilation of foods depend largely upon the presence of microbes—of the right stripe, of course.

The dangers that lurk in the toothbrush are not of the microbic kind altogether. The vigorous application of a brush to the teeth and gums, and it is usually applied with considerable vigor, not only destroys the enamel on the teeth but so irritates and inflames the gums that they cannot supply to the teeth the health and vigor they could, and would if let alone.

Do animals, which have perfect teeth, brush them, or use dentifrices and the like?

Who among us have the best teeth? Those who are too poor, or who never have spent money for toothbrushes.

What are you to do if not allowed to use the toothbrush?

The best dentifrice that ever was, or ever will be is the healthy secretions of the mouth. These will clean your teeth perfectly, so that you need only to rinse the mouth with water to remove larger particles of food which may stick between the teeth, or become attached to those that are diseased.

Food material, nor anything else, not even tobacco, will stick to healthy teeth, or permanently stain them.

But when the gum is rubbed loose from the tooth, and inflamed more or less, the energy that keeps teeth clean and bright is so interfered with that the tooth surface soon begins to lose tone and color.

A soft rag, or the corner of a towel stretched over the finger, is the very best tooth washer. If the teeth are dull, or dark, allow the gums to heal and the teeth will soon become all right.

You may never have thought of the wonderful cleaning properties of the natural secretions of the mouth.

Were you to handle with your hands the substances you eat, you would have to use soap and hot water to get it off. But immediately after eating greasy, sticky messes your mouth, tongue and teeth are as clean, if not cleaner, than if you had scrubbed them with soap and water.

Suppose you stop and think for a moment of the greasy, milky stuff that you put into your mouth at every meal you eat, and then think of the perfectly clean condition of the mouth. Not a speck of grease, nor a bit of acid, but all natural, sweet and healthful.

But when you attempt to improve on nature's ways you are apt to get yourself into a bad fix.

The artificial and the false in life is mainly responsible for our imperfect health and lack of physical comforts. And what is most strange is that we rarely give a thought to our health until it is threatened, and then, instead of trying to learn the cause of its trouble, we send for a doctor, pay him for his medicine and let it go at that.

We have been taught that the mystery of health is great, and can only be seen through the medicine men. It has been thus since the time when diseases were thought to be devils, and that only a conjuror or some one with power over evil spirits could relieve them.

The fact of the matter is that the laws of health are among the simplest in the whole book of nature. Even monkeys, cats and dogs understand them better than most of us do, or at least they observe them more closely, and as a result are more healthful.

Do you ever think of the mixture you thrust into your stomach at every meal? If so what do you think of that most patient and faithful organ? And the more you think of it the more you are impressed with the thought that your stomach is nothing more nor less than a garbage can, a swill pot.

And yet, if it revolts at some of the outlandish messes you dump into it, you fall upon it with nasty doses of poisonous drugs to goad it on, much as an ox driver goads and lashes the poor, tired, wornout animals under his control.

Get acquainted with your stomach, and find out something about how you live, and the chances are that you will live a much more comfortable and better life.

Beds A-Plenty for Mr. Martin.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir:—It is a long time since I troubled you with a letter, but when I see in your columns of today that J. Rankin Martin, Beaver county's next judge for ten years, is not known by the proprietor of the Hookstown hotel, I cannot help but deny the assertion. I have not the least doubt but Mr. Holt was at the hotel, but as for Mr. Martin stopping there at all, I doubt it very much, for he has dozens of farmer friends there who would be too glad to entertain him: Samuel Torrence, Wallace Nelson, the Sweeneys and a host of good old friends I have not seen for some years just because I cannot get to the Hookstown fair where we used to meet and have our harvest home picnic. Why, the idea that Mr. Sutherland did not know Mr. Martin is preposterous. Yes, and nearly all these good old farmers, and young ones, too, for that matter, read The Pittsburgh Gazette, and roll up a good round majority for the straight Republican ticket at all general elections.

BIG GAME FOR FOUR ON OCEAN STEAMER

Chips Worth Even Hundred. Marlborough Uses Candles. Gossip of Gotham.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Besides carrying such a number of millionaires as seldom travel on one vessel, the Kaiser Wilhelm II. today carried to port a tale of a poker game played by four gentlemen who used chips worth $100 each and played continuously for three days and three nights, with as much as $10,000 on the table at one time. The players would seem able to take care of the game, if it really was played, since we are told that around the table were men whose combined wealth was more than $300,000,000. In that case, it would appear more like a game of "penny ante" to them, and hardly worth mentioning. We are hearing all sorts of tales lately about the big games that are played on the liners, about two-thirds of which are very likely closely allied to fiction. There is some gambling upon the big liners, of course, just as there are little private games among friends in nearly all hotels, but certainly not half the stories of big stakes heard are true. The great trouble is that "stacks" look awfully large sometimes to the outsider who is not accustomed to playing even in a small way, and he is inclined to exaggerate the value of a blue chip.

Big Men on Board Kaiser Wilhelm.

However, there is no gainsaying the fact that there were some pretty big men financially on the Kaiser Wilhelm when she reached port this morning. She carried 982 persons in her cabins, and many of these were prominent financiers coming back from their summer vacations in Europe. The result was a big crowd at the dock to meet friends who had been abroad. It would seem that there were half a dozen friends there to greet each one of those who had cabin passage. Of course, the customs inspectors enjoyed this. They always like crowds around. It makes it so easy for them to attend to their manifold duties and listen to the "kicks" of people who want to get through the lines without trouble.

Favors Lock Canal at Panama.

Among the passengers was M. Philippe Bunau-Varilla, formerly chief engineer of the French Panama Canal Company, who has come to America to lend his assistance to the United States in building the big ditch. He left this afternoon for Washington, and expects to visit Panama before he returns to France. The famous engineer expressed himself very strongly in favor of a lock canal, as against a sea level canal. "A sea level canal is undoubtedly the ideal solution of the question," he said, "but a lock canal with a high summit level is the best thing for the immediate future. The latter can be built in four years, and a change to the sea level canal can be made without altering the width and without interfering with traffic. The cost to make the change would be trifling."

One of Jerome's Gala Days.

District Attorney Jerome's name appeared in the papers today more often than usual. There were several reasons. Mr. Cutting, the Citizens leader, came out in a statement blaming the Republicans and Municipal Ownership league with causing Jerome to refuse to run for mayor. Then there was a story that Tammany was ready to put Jerome's name on its slate for his present position of district attorney. In court Judge Foster took a rap at Jerome about faulty indictments, and advised the grand jury not to be too confiding in the good faith of the district attorney. To cap it all, Mr. Jerome arrived in town from his country home in order to keep an eye on the insurance investigation which opens tomorrow.

Another Policy Shop for Women.

It keeps the police as busy watching the women who like to gamble as it does watching the men, though there are more of the latter. This afternoon a policy shop patronized exclusively by women was raided and the alleged proprietors taken to prison. Incidentally, several women in the neighborhood of the place tried to prevent the raid by keeping the detectives from going over their back fences. This little delay gave all the women in the policy joint time to "make the get away." Women's pool rooms, bucket shops and policy shops are very popular in Harlem, and this one was located in Lexington avenue, only two blocks from the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street police station.

Back to Days of Tallow Dips.

Every light in the Hotel Marlborough, at Broadway and Thirty-sixth street, went out last night just about high tide. A man was telling a joke to the bartender and it went so dark the booze doctor couldn't see the point. In the dining room a shadow fell upon the blushing lobsters. A young man who had just arrived from a long railroad journey remarked that he supposed this was a tunnel. The Hotel Marlborough dropped back a century, and went to bed by candle light. Servants brought in real candles in place of the electric imitations. The guests rather enjoyed it. Tallow dips on Broadway were new.

The Victory for the "Open Door."

If Secretary Hay were living he would rejoice most in the restoration of peace after one of the bloodiest wars in history, because he was a high-minded gentleman who loved his fellow men. But the direct appeal to his personal pride would lie in the victory won for the open door.—Cleveland Leader.

SOME OLD VOLCANOES HAVE BEEN LOCATED

Baltimore Geologist Discovers "Old Smokers" Near Pen Mar, Pennsylvania.

Prof. Philip R. Uhler, provost of the Peabody Institute of Baltimore, has returned to that city after a month's vacation in the mountains near Buena Vista, near Pen Mar, Pa., with the report of a discovery which he made in the Western Maryland mountains, about six miles from Smithsburg, and which will add another quantity of valuable data to what is already known of the early geological formation of the earth within the limits of the state.

Three Peaks.

The Baltimore American, in recounting Prof. Uhler's discoveries, says: "Many of the residents in the neighborhood of Smithsburg are aware of the presence of three peaks, the principal one named Buzzards Knob, crowning a plateau at a point on the Smithsburg road, about six miles from the city, but few have ever been to the very spot, and perhaps none has any definite idea as to what the peaks mean in the early geological history of the state or have had curiosity enough to inquire into their cause. No beaten road leads to the spot; the hunter on the trail for deer has by chance happened upon the spot, and the hardy woodcutter, who knows the bypaths of the forest, has cut timber in the adjoining region, but it was for Prof. Uhler to discover that the three prominences are in fact volcanoes, and that, along with the adjoining mountain, they are the very oldest type of volcanic rock that is found in the United States.

A Favorite Spot.

"Western Maryland is a favorite prospecting ground for Prof. Uhler, and each summer, armed with an ax and a geologist's bag and hammer, he makes his way through the most inaccessible parts of the mountains, gathering specimens by the way, and it is seldom that he returns home empty-handed. It was on such a prospecting trip, accompanied by a woodcutter as a guide, that he made his way after many turnings and doubling upon their tracks to avoid great rocks and impenetrable forests, to the height of Buzzards Knob, and coming upon these volcanic craters, made a thorough examination of their origin and formation.

"While craters in very fact, these particular peaks are of a different form from volcanoes like Vesuvius. In the latter form of volcano the mass of molten lava and stones is forced up through the vent by superheated steam, leaving a deep hole, but in these craters in Western Maryland the whole mountain was originally in a molten condition, but not sufficiently so to be forced out in such volcanoes as Vesuvius. Consequently the top crust was forced upward in a dome-shaped form, and such lava as did escape was forced out in vents at various places. The volcanic rock of the region is metal-bearing, and specimens of gray, green and gold copper were found by Dr. Uhler. The domes of the craters were somewhat elliptical in shape, not quite as broad as long. There is also some silver in the rock and a trace of gold, though none of the metals are plentiful enough to make them commercially valuable.

Far Above Sea Level.

"The middle crater has a marked depression in the center, where the heavier elements of the volcanic mass sank from want of support. The craters are estimated by Dr. Uhler to be 2,200 feet above sea level and nearly as high as Mount Quirauk.

"In the neighborhood and in the country surrounding Monterey and Pen Mar there are a number of geological phenomena called "devils' race courses," which are well known to summer visitors from Baltimore as places of interest. Five of these places were visited and studied by Prof. Uhler, especially the one which begins back of Mt. Quirauk and extends for two miles. These phenomena are great, flat areas of rock and boulders, all of the same general size, and they occur in the most unlooked-for places, such as the midst of a dense forest; hence the tourist always expresses the greatest curiosity to know how they were caused. According to the explanation of Prof. Uhler, the original folds of the mountains were formed of Potsdam sandstone, and water running beneath these gradually cracked the stone into smaller and smaller boulders until the flat areas of uniform boulders is finally left."

Burnt Child Dreads Fire.

Yesterday the Tribune scribe encountered in a casual way a Republican citizen who in other years had listened consistently to the charm of the Democratic siren wearing the garb of an "Independent" Republican. He didn't wait to be questioned, but sturdily announced that he had affiliated with his last Democratic "side show" and would be found hereafter steadily and consistently in the regular Republican ranks. He is a type of others in Blair and adjoining counties who have been misled in the past, but who have their eyes open now and mean to keep them open. They know the independent leaders quite thoroughly and do not trust them.—Altoona Tribune.

Wants His Fender Tested.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir:—I have written to several prominent men regarding a test for my car fender, but can get no reply. Now sir, I claim along with other prominent engineers of the city, that my fender will pick up anybody in whatever position, off the track with very little injury. My fender has the points where most of the other fenders failed. All I ask, sir, is a fair trial and the fender will do the rest. I remain,

THE RIPENING.

O vast, unwieldy land of ours!
Like some huge Titan boy thou art
Whose young blood surges through his heart
In a crude strife of powers.
Until some tingling moment when
One cry wrings all true souls, and then
Thou standest in the strength of wrath and tears—
Thou gatherest all thyself to tower above thy peers!

Then, newborn far beyond the main,
God cradled in a new-found clime
That wistful Europe's dreams sublime
Might not seem all in vain;
Hope, reawakening at thy birth,
Thrilled the drugged sojourners of the earth
To brief ecstatic joy. Ere long in thee
Shall they behold the pledge of one Humanity.

The nations, aye, the nations wait
Thy ripening. Shall they lift their eyes
To see thee knit thy thews and rise,
Single and whole and great?
Not sooner for the bugle call,
Not sooner for the sound of all
The cannonades that roar beneath the sun
Knowledge and Love and Toil shall slowly make the one.

What song shall hail yon far-off morn?
Must hope be sung in sweet, sad wails
By Europe's rich-voiced nightingales
Pleading against a thorn?
Come, new-world Lark! Come, future seer—
In thy chanting men shall hear
Love dominant through the triumph hymn of Life,
While long retreating drums beat the dead march of strife.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings About the People Who Are Traveling.

When Mr. and Mrs. William Boardman of this city arrived at Union station last night with their friends they were happy. They had been married at 5 p. m., but through some oversight the newly wedded couple arrived at the station about 20 minutes before train time. Some wag in the crowd, taking advantage of an opportunity, tacked a sign on the bride's back, telling all who might look that she had just been married. The young "hubby," with enough smile on his face to use at some future time, discovered the tag and pulled it off. He showed he didn't like that kind of fun. His change of expression was the signal for the crowd and rice, shoes and other things flew. The station platform was crowded, as another performance was going on at this time, and then somebody attached a streamer to the bride. Her new husband was quick to see it, but he couldn't see his own back, where another sign announcing he was the happiest man in the world had been pinned. The couple started on their wedding trip to Buffalo, and as they went through the gate there were many exclamations of "Isn't she a pretty girl?"

Famous Old Crowd Moves On.

The famous old crowd which has been loitering along the walk leading to Union station is no more. The order from the railroad company went forth several days ago that the loiterers would have to move on, and Harry Cooper, Charles McCray, Andrew Welsh and John Dunlap, special officers employed about the station, executed the orders of their superiors with dispatch. Signs announcing "Loafing Prohibited" have been strung along the walk, and last night the rail was clean of loiterers for the first time in many years. It was said of the old crowd that they could tell the name and pick every prominent person out of a crowd the instant the person appeared on the walk.

Going to Barrett Reunion.

Congressman Blackburn B. Dovener of Wheeling, W. Va., was registered at the Monongahela house last night. He attended a theater in the evening, and early this morning left for Philadelphia, Ind., over the Pennsylvania. He goes there to attend the sixteenth annual reunion of the Barrett family, to be held in Spring Lake park tomorrow. Capt. Dovener's mother was a Barrett and the family dates back to 1750 in this country. The congressman will be one of the principal orators at the reunion.

Somebody Maligning Pittsburgh.

When the passengers got off the trains in Pittsburgh last night they attracted more than usual attention. The men wore overcoats and straw hats, while the women travelers nearly all had donned heavy wraps. Somebody must have been spreading reports that Pittsburgh has gone into winter quarters, as the passengers all seemed dressed for cold weather. Before they went far, however, the heavy top coats were shed by both the women and men.

Floor Too Slippery for Him.

When the train from Chicago pulled into Union station yesterday evening the passengers were followed by a legless man. He was an Italian and is unable to speak other than his own tongue. He wore a peg leg on one stump and used crutches to help himself along. All went well with the legless stranger till he reached the station auditorium with its slippery marble floor. Then down he went like a shot, while his crutches flew in different directions. Officers quickly helped him to his feet, but no sooner had they let him go than down he went again. Then it was discovered he could not stand on the slippery floor and a rolling chair was secured, the stranger placed in it and hauled to the men's waiting room to wait for No. 11, which arrives at 1:10 a. m., to take him to Philadelphia, his home.

Ripeness and Fitness.

As Gov. Pennypacker's term of office will expire next year, the subject of his probable successor is being earnestly discussed. In this connection the name of Josiah V. Thompson of Uniontown has been presented to the attention of the Republicans of Pennsylvania and already a good-sized boom has been launched for him as the candidate of his party for governor in 1906. It is practically conceded that the next governor will be from the western end of the state and the friends of Mr. Thompson in Fayette county are urging that he be chosen to represent this part of Pennsylvania. Mr. Thompson is well fitted for the office and would bring to it years of ripe experience in the handling of large affairs and his executive ability is too well known to require any special mention at this time.—Washington Journal.

MANY ASSESSORS ARE NEGLIGENT

Over 100 Registers in the County Are Not Complying With the Registration Law.

ARE LIABLE TO HEAVY FINE

There are over 100 assessors in the county who are not complying with the law relative to the registry of voters for the fall election. Each of these officials is liable to a fine of from $50 to $200.

Yesterday and today are the days fixed by law when the assessor of every voting district must sit at his polling place between the hours of 10 a. m., and 3 p. m., and 6 p. m. and 9 p. m. It is his duty to be present for the purpose of hearing the applications of those who were omitted from the original registration made in May. He is required to correct the original list by adding the names of those entitled to be registered and striking off the names of those who have died or removed from the district. The original list must be open to the inspection of any qualified elector of the district. After the May registry is made, the books are sent to the commissioners' office, where they are held until it is time for the assessors to sit at the polling places for the two days. They are then supposed to get the registry lists for the purpose of revision. This work must be completed 62 days before the November election and the revised original registry returned to the commissioners on the sixty-first day. This year the return must be made on September 7.

Many Are Negligent.

The assessors should have called at the commissioners office not later than Monday to take out their original lists so as to have had them ready for correction purposes yesterday and today. When the office closed last night there were still 107 books which had not been taken out. This means that 107 assessors are not complying with the law. They are violating this provision of the act of 1839:

> If any assessor shall intentionally neglect or refuse to assess any citizen of this commonwealth, who is or shall be subject to assessment by law; or shall, in like manner, neglect or refuse to return the names of the person so assessed to the commissioners of the proper county; or intentionally neglect or refuse to perform any other duty, enjoined on him by the provisions of this act, he shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not less than $50, nor more than $200.

The commissioners do not have the authority to penalize the assessors. They can be punished by persons in their respective districts beginning the proper proceedings in the courts.

Where Assessors Tire.

The following are the districts in the county where the assessors have failed to comply with the law:

Pittsburgh—Fourth district, First ward; First district, Second ward; First district, Second and Third wards; Second district, Fifth ward; Fifth district, Sixth ward; Second district, Tenth ward; Fourth, Fifth and Eleventh districts, Thirteenth ward; Second and Eleventh districts, Fourteenth ward; Second and Seventh districts, Sixteenth ward; Sixth district, Seventeenth ward; Third, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth and Twelfth districts, Nineteenth ward; Seventh and Thirteenth districts, Twentieth ward; Ninth district, Twenty-first ward; Fifth district, Twenty-third ward; Second and Fourth districts, Twenty-fifth ward; First district, Twenty-sixth ward; Seventh district, Twenty-seventh ward; Fifth district, Twenty-eighth ward; First, Second and Third districts, Twenty-ninth ward; First district, Thirtieth ward; Fourth and Eighth districts, Thirty-second ward; Fourth district, Thirty-sixth ward; Thirty-ninth ward.

Will Not Indorse Berry.

Director E. M. Bigelow says the Citizens party will not indorse the candidacy of William H. Berry, the Democratic nominee for state treasurer. When asked if the indorsement would go to J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee, he declined to say. The Democrats had been hopeful of securing a place on the ticket for Berry.

Director J. W. Clark of the department of charities and secretary of the Citizens committee, says the fusionists will not complete their ticket until after the Republican primaries. Clark is of the opinion the chairmanship of the county committee will go to a man from the country districts. None of the bosses want the job this time, as they know the Republican ticket will win.

The exceptions to the receivers' report in favor of dividing Avalon into wards, was discussed yesterday by Judge J. A. Evans. The viewers recommended the creation of three wards.

NOT WORRIED BY MAE WOOD.

State Department Will Pay No Attention to New Charges She Has Filed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Alvey A. Adee, acting secretary of state, admitted that Miss Mae Wood, who was a clerk in the postoffice department until she became involved in a row with Senator Platt of New York, had written a letter to the department making charges against Martin Miller, consul to Aix La Chappelle, Prussia; William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the president, and Robert J. Wynne, consul general at London.

Mr. Adee refused to discuss the matter, saying that the scandal is without the province of the department and that the only charges against Mr. Miller now seriously considered by the state department are those made in Germany, which allege that the consul in his newspaper work wrote articles which reflected upon that country.

HOLY GHOST COLLEGE OPENS FOR FALL TERM

Pittsburgh college opened yesterday for the fall term. A solemn high mass of the Holy Ghost was sung, the celebrant being the Rev. J. J. Laux, assisted by the Revs. T. A. Giblin and J. A. Callahan. All the classes were organized and more than 100 new students were enrolled. The teaching staff has been strengthened by the addition of J. A. Schartung, specialist in the sciences and mathematics, and J. J. Barrett, formerly of Mercer academy, assistant teacher in the commercial department.

REPUBLICANS PURIFY LISTS

WEAVER DEFENDS THE POLICE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.

As the assessors will not make their report to the city commissioners until Thursday morning, accurate figures on the September assessment will not be available until that time. Then it will be known whether the present assessment shows more or less voters than the one made in May. The Republican city committee estimates that not more than 55,000 names will be stricken off the lists and that at least 40,000 names will go on. These figures are regarded as conservative.

Reports from every ward in the city, unofficial, but estimates of Republican district leaders, show tonight that the Republican ward leaders have made good their original pledge to purify the lists. In a great many instances they caused to be stricken off more names than the police canvass showed subject to removal. The assessors found the Republican lists to be accurate and used them in making the corrections today.

Thousands of voters registered personally today and those who have been placed on the lists by the assessors will do so tomorrow. There was no trouble at any of the polling places. The full police and detective force was on duty, but Judge Gordon's threat to arrest the assessors was not made good.

Poor Excuse for Such Action.

There was no excuse for such action as the organization leaders knew every name that should go on or off the lists and the police and "reformers" did not. The police, representatives of the Democratic city committee and the City party, looked on while the Republican purged the lists. City party watchers kept a record of names added and taken off, and this organization is expected to make its usual charges of fraud when the result is announced.

Since Friday night, when the police were ordered into politics and off their beats, there have been a great number of robberies and other crimes. At headquarters these reports have been impounded and not a single one can be had from the department of public safety. There was a riot today in the uptown district in which several hundred men were engaged, but no police responded to calls sent in and the rioters held sway until tired of fighting.

In the criminal courts policemen subpoenaed failed to appear, a number of prisoners, well-known to the police, were discharged while other cases were postponed.

"Where are the police?" asked Judge Beidler in his court. "Playing politics to please Director Potter," answered the assistant district attorney.

Judge Ralston Indignant.

Judge Ralston also expressed his opinion. Assistant District Attorney Gray called the names of the policemen subpoenaed. They did not respond.

"Where are these officers?" asked Gray.

"The lieutenant has ordered them to watch the assessors today," replied an officer who was present, "in accordance with orders from the director of public safety."

"No one has a right to set aside a subpoena of this court," said Judge Ralston. "If the director of public safety has other business for officers, who are subpoenaed, he should come into court or send some one here to ask to have the officers excused, but to disregard the subpoena of the court should not be allowed. When a man is regularly subpoenaed he has to come."

Mayor Weaver does not agree with the judges. He expressed himself, in part, as follows:

"Those people who are criticising the employment of the police in the campaign to prevent the debauching of the ballot are the ones who, for their own purposes, do not want the assessors' lists cleared of fraudulent or fictitious names.

Mayor Weaver's Opinion.

"Do you consider that the city during the last two months has not been well policed? It is my firm belief that the city has been better policed during the last two months than at any other time during the last two years. It is my opinion that 500 policemen with the dominant idea that they are to do police duty only, that they have no political obligations to perform for political bosses, can do and will do better work than 2,000 policemen who believe themselves responsible to politicians only."

The mayor did not refer to the fact that Judge Gordon and the City party have had absolute control of the police since Friday night at 6 o'clock. Possibly he does not regard Gordon and the City party managers as "politicians."

ALL REPORTS INDICATE REPUBLICAN VICTORY

Visitors from All Parts of the State Bring Good News—Niles Will Be Answered.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—"I have today talked with congressmen, senators, chairmen and Republican leaders representing at least half of the counties of the commonwealth, and their predictions, without an exception, are that their counties will give an increased majority in November for the full Republican state ticket."

This was the statement made tonight by Col. W. R. Andrews, Republican state chairman. Headquarters was crowded all day with visitors from up the state. They so fully occupied the chairman's time that he could not handle his official mail and he is working overtime tonight.

J. V. Clark of Washington county was one of the Western Pennsylvania visitors. He had a long talk with Col. Andrews after which he called on Senator Penrose.

It now appears that the Republican leaders intend to ignore the outburst of Attorney Niles of York. Later they may make public a few of the many letters written by Mr. Niles on the two occasions when he wanted the superior court nomination—imploring the Republican leaders to support him. Then Mr. Niles was very defferential in his references to the "organization." But it's different now.

EMPEROR WOULD HAVE BARCHFELD IN THE GUARD

Unique Compliment Paid South Side Congressman by the German Ruler at Berlin.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—United States Congressman Barchfeld of Pittsburgh was paid a very unique compliment by Emperor William today, when the emperor said to the tall Pennsylvania politician: "If you were a German I would have you in my guards." Representative Barchfeld, who stands over six feet, in company with Congressman Littlefield of Maine; Bartholdt of Missouri; Norris of Nebraska; Waldo of New York and McNary of Massachusetts, were standing in a hall at the palace when the compliment was paid.

The emperor met each of the congressmen and talked to them collectively on different subjects, and then turning to the Pennsylvanian, made the above remark. The congressmen in the morning viewed a review of the troops from carriages furnished by the emperor, and Mesdames Bartholdt, Barchfeld, Waldo and McNary were in private equipages near their husbands.

In the interview of the emperor with the congressmen a variety of subjects were touched upon, and the emperor earnestly complimented his visitors on President Roosevelt's peace work, referring to it as much as he did to Congressman William Alden Smith of Michigan, on Saturday.

ANOTHER DAY OF VIGOROUS DENIAL

Taggart Witnesses Put in Another Day Disputing Testimony of Others.

MOTHER STANDS UP FOR SON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 5.—A feature of the divorce case of Capt. Elmore Taggart against his wife is the letters which each of the principals receives daily. Some of the writers condemn the captain and praise Mrs. Taggart, while others denounce her and laud him.

Howard Taggart testified this morning that Mrs. Taggart told him at Fort Leavenworth that the church service was "a bore." Maj. Bunday, who lived next door to the Taggarts at Fort Leavenworth, testified that he was not awakened by screams or calls for help the night Taggart is charged with assaulting his wife. He said that although all the windows of his house were open on that night he had no knowledge of anything unusual occurring.

The deposition of Capt. Reese was read: "Do you know Capt. Taggart's reputation for sobriety?"

"I never saw nor heard of him being drunk; but I don't mean by that I never saw him take a drink."

Emma Lytle, a servant, had testified that she stood at the head of the stairs and watched the captain attacking his wife in the hall and vestibule on the first floor. Capt. Atkinson, in his deposition, read this morning, declared it is impossible to see the hall or vestibule from the head of the stairs either on the second or third floors.

Dr. J. A. Brooks of Orrville took the stand and told of a conversation with "Billy" Taggart in the National house at Orrville, in which the latter had told him of a letter and telegram he had received from "Grace." "Billy" had also told him, he said, that he had been to Cincinnati to see "Grace" while she was in the hospital, and that he was expecting her back in Orrville that night.

W. Ohl of Orrville told of seeing "Billy" Taggart wearing a double set diamond ring, which he said belonged to "Grace." Mrs. Ludwig of Orrville stated that "Billy" Taggart had once showed her a check for $75 and said that it came from "Grace." He also showed her a watchfob which he said "Grace" had sent him.

Mrs. Morrow Taggart, the captain's mother, was recalled to the stand during the afternoon. She said that at the time Mrs. Taggart and "Billy" went to Akron the former had not told her that "Billy" was going to accompany her.

Emma Lytle had testified that she came down stairs late one night and let Mrs. Taggart and "Billy" into the house after they had returned from a dance. Mrs. Morrow Taggart said that Emma's statement was untrue. She said that they opened the door themselves.

"How often was Grace at church while in Orrville?" was asked.

"Only twice that I know of. "Billy" walked home with Grace from church one night, but did not come into the house. One night he and Grace went down into the cellar together and remained there for a short time. The next morning Grace told me they were down there hunting apples."

On cross-examination the aged witness admitted that she would be disposed to color her testimony in favor of her son.

> I know my son, she said. I know how tenderly he treated his wife and I know how he has always been kind to us at home and to the soldiers in the army. And if he struck her she must have deserved it. Many a man would have killed her if she was guilty.
> In giving your testimony now you want to make it appear as bad as possible against Grace?
> No, I feel sorry for her if she did these things.

W. H. Myers, an Orrville blacksmith, testified he frequently saw "Billy" Taggart leaving Mrs. Taggart's home early in the morning when the latter was living in Orrville. Frank Strauss, cashier of the Orrville bank, told of a conversation with "Billy" during which "Billy" displayed a suit case and said that "Grace" had given it to him.

Thomas Moraldo, a choreman for the Taggarts, was recalled and said that on the night of June 30, 1903, he heard no cries or screams for help, nor did he hear any commotion in the house.

> Were there any bruises on Mrs. Taggart's face the next morning?
> No, sir.
> Did you see her about the house the next day?
> Yes, I saw her about the house.
>
> Did you see Mrs. Poore at the Taggart house the next day?
> No, sir; I saw Capt. Poore and Gen. Miner there.
> Who swept in the hall and vestibule the next morning?
>
> I did.
> Did you find any hair or torn clothing when you swept?
> No, sir.

On cross-examination Moraldo denied that the morning after the trouble he said to Mrs. Taggart, "Mucha combatti" (Big fight). Attorney Smyser tried to bring out an admission that Moraldo had found hair and torn clothes in the hall the morning after the alleged struggle and had burned them in the stove.

Capt. Taggart took the stand and denied that Mrs. Taggart had found him drunk in the bathroom at their home in Fort Thomas shortly after Culver was born. He denied that he was drunk on the night of the bridge dedication at Manila.

> Were you ever in the cafe at Mantanzas with Mrs. Taggart before the night you found her there drinking?
> No, sir; I never was.

He denied that the young officers with Mrs. Taggart in the cafe were at his house that evening before they went to the cafe.

SCHOOLS OPEN AGAIN.

In Both Cities and Boroughs Pupils Resume Their Studies.

Allegheny's public schools opened yesterday and in almost every ward an increase in the attendance was noted. There are over 700 pupils enrolled at the High school and in the Third, Fifth and Sixth wards especially increases were marked. At most of the schools yesterday there was but one session, the remainder of the day being needed by the teachers to complete arrangements for the prescribed studies.

Director Edward Rynearson of the Pittsburgh High schools reported yesterday morning 872 pupils in the academical department, 289 in the normal, and 539 in the commercial, all being increases over the numbers of last year. At the Forbes school in the Sixth ward, there was an enrollment of 1,400, an increase of 150 over last year.

It was expected that the Oakmont school would open yesterday, but, the doors will not be thrown open until next Monday. There has been some delay in completing the improvements on the schools. The borough schools of Esplen, McKees Rocks and Bellevue opened yesterday.

In Pittsburgh there was a rush of many school children to the health bureau to obtain certificates showing they have been recently vaccinated.

CUPID IS IDLE, SAYS MINISTER

Castle Shannon Pastor Tells Presbytery He Has Had No Marriages in Three Years.

ASKS TO BE TRANSFERRED

That Cupid has not been practicing archery on the heights of Castle Shannon for some time past, was revealed yesterday during the fall session of the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church, held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue.

During the session the Rev. O. B. Rodgers, who has been pastor of the Castle Shannon Presbyterian church for the past three years, asked to be relieved of his pulpit and that a letter be given him by presbytery admitting him to the presbytery of Philadelphia. The Rev. Mr. Rodgers stated that he had made little progress during the past three years and cited, in confirmation, the fact that there had been no marriages in the church during that time. He was at once granted his request.

Following a short sermon on "Would God That All the Lord's People Were Prophets," by the Rev. Dr. W. R. Farmer of Edgewood, retiring moderator, which opened the session, an election was held which resulted in the Rev. U. S. Greves of the Forty-third Street church being named as moderator for the ensuing year. The Rev. W. A. Jones of the Knoxville church was unanimously elected permanent clerk; the Rev. C. S. McClelland was elected stated clerk, and William C. Lilley, treasurer.

Authorize Sale of Property.

The sale of the property of the Morningside church was then discussed and authorized. The Rev. A. H. Jolly, in reporting on the tent evangelistic meetings during the summer, stated that 106 meetings with an attendance of 15,700, had been held, and that the expense had been $832 57.

William C. Lilley, secretary of the presbyterial committee on missions, reported that the aggregate receipts had been $15,857 62, and the disbursements $15,282 62. His report was a very complete one, and in discussing the items he stated that the results did not appear as encouraging as they really were, because several committees had handled the funds this year. He cited the case of one church being apportioned $2,000, where the committee was only credited with $41. After much discussion the report was amended to the effect that the amounts contributed by the several churches through the committee on missions be eliminated from the report.

The election of commissioners to the Pennsylvania synod, which meets in Greensburg on the third Thursday in October, resulted as follows:

Commissioners to Synod.

The Revs. W. S. Fulton, W. A. Jones, W. F. Brown, Dunlop Moore, Herbert Hezlep, L. W. Warren, J. W. Miller, Isaac Ravenbaugh. Alternates—The Revs. J. R. Jones, S. S. Gilson, A. D. Carlile, J. M. McJunkin, E. W. Wycoff, S. T. Brown; and Elders W. K. Armstrong, J. M. Foster, Albert Aten, J. A. Libbey, H. H. Barrett, J. L. Balph, F. E. Miller, W. B. Harvey. Alternates—J. B. McIntyre, Peter Vonstein, Thomas Balantyne, J. J. Van Eman.

These members of the committee on presbyterial missions, whose terms had expired, were re-elected: the Revs. Daniel Russell, Dr. W. L. McEwan, Dr. F. W. Sneed, Dr. J. Kinsey Smith; and Elders S. E. Gill, G. G. Hoosack, W. H. Schulte, W. A. Shaw. W. L. Nicholson and R. L. Park were elected members of the committee on freedmen, and D. P. McQuarrie was elected a member of the committee on minutes of presbytery.

Presbytery adjourned to meet in the First church on the second Tuesday of October.

MAGNIFICENT SYMPHONY DRAWS A LARGE CROWD

Immense Audiences Listen to Rendition of "Pathetique" at the Exposition.

The announcement that the Sixth Symphony of Tschaikowsky, popularly known as the "Pathetique," would form one of the Damrosch numbers for Symphony night at the Exposition last evening, attracted a large audience to the Exposition music hall. Among the great works of musical geniuses created in this generation no purely orchestral composition has perhaps taken such a strong hold on the music public—professional, student or amateur alike. The announcement that it was to be performed at last night's concert brought out several thousand who had for their object the hearing of a noble work.

Tschaikowsky wrote the memorable work in 1893. By March of that year "Scherzo" and "Finale" were both finally sketched out. The "Finale" is not a great allegro, but, on the contrary, an adagio of considerable dimensions. This work of the composer is regarded as his best, and especially the most sincere of all his musical offsprings, and the manner in which it was received last evening, the first of the Damrosch symphony nights during his engagement here, indicated that the audience was in love with the masterpiece.

During the afternoon the program was entirely devoted to Wagnerian selections, including the "Prelude to Die Meistersinger" and the "Prize Song," "The Ride of the Valkyries" and the prelude and finale from "Tristan." In the latter part another of the great Tschaikowsky numbers was given by Mr. Saslovsky, a melancholy serenade followed by "Espiegel."

For this afternoon the march movement from Tschaikowsky's symphony "Pathetique" will be given. This number will conclude the first part of the afternoon program. The program is of extremely wide range, with such numbers as the overture from "Martha," "The Dance of the Persian Slaves," "The Persian March," the serenade and bridal song from Goldmark's "Rustic Wedding Symphony," the anvil chorus from "Il Trovatore" and the sextet from "Lucia."

During the second part of the program Elgar's gavotte will be heard in Pittsburgh for the first time, and a musical joke, "Perpetual Motion," is another of the pleasing numbers, while a love scene from "Leonore" symphony is also contained in the program.

For this afternoon's concerts Mr. Damrosch has arranged a striking program, as follows:

2 P. M.

Overture, "Martha" .... Flowtow
(a) Dance of the Persian Slaves .... Massenet
(b) Persian march .... Strauss
(a) Serenade, from "Rustic Wedding"
(b) Bridal Song, symphony .... Goldmark
(a) Anvil Chorus, from "Il Trovatore" .. Verdi
(b) Sextet, from "Lucia" .... Donizetti
March movement from "Symphony Pathetique" .... Tschaikowsky

4 P. M.

Overture, "A Roman Carnival" .... Berlioz
Gavotte, contrasts, A. D. 1700-1900 .... Elgar
(New, first time.)
Perpetual Motion (a musical joke) ...... Strauss
Love scene from "Leonore Symphony" .... Raff
Hungarian Dance .... Brahms

Father and Son Die Together.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—George Johnson, aged 45, and his son Charles, aged 24, were asphyxiated by illuminating gas in a boarding house here last night. The bodies were found today. The younger Johnson served in the United States army and was at one time stationed in the Philippines.

Will Organize New Congregation.

On Thursday evening of this week there will be a meeting in the chapel at Fair Oaks for the purpose of organizing a Baptist church. The Rev. H. B. Roukin, pastor of the Sewickley Baptist church, has been holding services each Sunday afternoon in the chapel at Fair Oaks.

MARSHALL MAKES STRENUOUS FIGHT

Lawyer Tries Hard to Free Him in New York but He Is Committed to the Tombs.

SAY HE KNEW MRS. CHADWICK

Arthur G. Marshall, the local insurance man who is wanted here, together with Frank D. Dunbar, on charges of fire insurance frauds, and who was arrested in New York Monday night, was committed to the Tombs in default of $2,000 bail yesterday morning to await extradition.

At police headquarters in New York Marshall admitted his identity and was photographed for the rogues' gallery, after which he was arraigned in the Tombs police court, where his attorney fiercely attacked the affidavit made against him. It charged the prisoner with being "a fugitive from justice," which the lawyer held to be insufficient. A new affidavit was made charging larceny and this was also fought, but to no avail. Telegrams from Superintendent of Detectives Thomas McQuaide were placed in evidence, which charged the prisoner with "embezzlement, forgery and perjury."

While in court Marshall asked what disposition would be made of his 9-year-old daughter, Gladys, who was with him when he was arrested. He was informed that she was placed in the care of a brother Knight of Pythias, Carl W. Appelin, who lives in the Sharon apartment house in Manhattan avenue, New York, where Marshall was arrested.

Attorney Frederick L. Kahle of this city, who has been pushing the cases against Marshall and Dunbar, made application for Marshall's extradition yesterday and believes that he will put up a vigorous fight against being brought back. The attorney stated yesterday that in all probability new suits would be entered shortly.

Carl W. Appelin, in whose custody Marshall's daughter has been placed, and who resides in the same house in which Marshall made his New York home when arrested, told the New York police yesterday that Marshall had admitted to him that he was acquainted with Cassie L. Chadwick. The police are still searching for Dunbar and feel sure that he will be apprehended within a few days.

Detective Cecil G. Rice will leave for New York this evening to bring Marshall back.

WILLING TO FIGHT THE ARMY.

Italian, Enraged Because Girls Like Bluecoats, Shoots Into Crowd of Dancers. One Man Dying.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Enraged because none of the young women in a dancing pavilion at South Beach, Staten island, would dance with him, but preferred the soldiers from Fort Wadsworth, an unknown Italian early today challenged any soldier in the pavilion to fight.

One of the soldiers promptly accepted the challenge and, with the Italian, started to leave the hall, when the latter opened fire into the crowd of dancers. One bullet struck Edward Carson of Staten island, in the forehead, inflicting a wound which will cause death. Another man was wounded in the thigh. The Italian escaped.

imported linens

Competition in Ireland and Scotland among makers of Table and Toilet Linens is very keen—and American stores with facilities for handling more than the ordinary amount of business are enabled to buy very satisfactorily.

This is one of the stores in this country that's enabled to command concessions—having an extraordinary trade on this class of goods.

Thus we buy closely—and invariably sell for the Small Profit.

And every day building a bigger trade thereby.

For proof see:

72-inch full bleached Irish Table Linen, 85c a yard—not that 72-inch Irish Table Linen doesn't regularly sell for eighty-five cents, for it does—but it's the quality of this 72-inch Linen we ask you to see.

72-inch double Damask—choice patterns in floral and scroll designs, $1.50.

Special sale of a lot of Napkins at $2.50 a dozen—goods we bought at a sacrifice from the maker who was selling out some patterns, because of new ones being added—25 inches square and a superior quality of linen.

Special lot of very finest Linen Dinner Napkins, $8.25 a dozen.

Hemmed huck Towels, 35c—considered fifty-cent goods mostly.

Large new assortments of Toweling—all kinds—all bought for the lowest possible price and selling for a small profit.

BOYS ESCAPE FROM JAIL BY A ROPE OF BLANKETS

Two Youths at Franklin Leave in the Middle of the Night—Sheriff and Posse on Trail.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., Sept. 5.—William Henderson, aged 15 years, and Ralph Smith, aged 14 years, escaped from the county jail early this morning. They had been sentenced to Morganza for the larceny of bicycles and with four other boys occupied the women's quarters on the third floor of the jail building. They escaped by cutting a hole in the ceiling. They passed to the garret, where they made a rope of two blankets, and a hammock. They slid down this to the ground and escaped.

The sheriff and three other men, with a bloodhound, took up the trail two hours after the escape, and at Niles, six miles west of Franklin, they were but half an hour behind the boys. Here they lost the trail, and it is believed the fugitives took the train there for New Castle.

From developments this afternoon it is thought the boys had accomplices. A man answering the description of a relative of Henderson, met them near the city limits. The four other boys claim to have no knowledge of the escape, though they slept in the same room.

BRAND'S STORY OF MURDER A FAKE PURE AND SIMPLE

Coroner of Washington County Has Never Been Notified of Death of David White of Imperial.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 5.—When Coroner W. H. Sipe was asked today if he had been notified of the death in Robinson township of David White, concerning whom a Pittsburgh newspaper printed a sensational story of murder and robbery, the coroner said he had received no official notification of Mr. White's death, that he had taken no action, and had no intention of taking any.

Coroner Sipe said that in conversation with neighbors of Mr. White he had learned that death was due to pneumonia, as stated by Dr. Marlin, of Clinton, who had charge of the case.

The newspaper story of Mr. White being found "with his head beaten to a pulp and a large sum of money which he carried gone," was branded as a fake pure and simple. There is no suspicion of either murder or robbery.

THE PIRATES CUT DOWN THE GIANTS' PENNANT LEAD

CHICAGO'S STAR LOST CONTROL

Reulbach Was Wild and Pirates Secured a Lead That the Cubs Could Not Overcome.

GREAT PITCHING BY LYNCH

That star pitchers will sometimes go astray was shown yesterday in the final game of the series between the Pittsburgh and Chicago teams when Ed. Reulbach, the star of the Cubs' staff, started the Pirates off with a quartet of runs, and this handicap proved too much for his fellow players to overcome, though they made a game effort. The game wound up 6 to 4 in the locals' favor.

Reulbach is the hero of the 20-inning game at Philadelphia recently, and he has been the pitching find of the season. One of his strong points heretofore has been his steadiness, but he was away off in his form yesterday and opened up as wild as an untamed broncho. Manager-Captain Chance, who was back at his old position at first base, tried to steady his pitcher down, but found the job a hopeless one and finally was forced to relieve his star in the middle of the first inning, after three runs had been scored and the way paved for more.

During his short term of duty Reulbach passed two batsmen to first and hit two more. These, with a grounder by Clarke and a two-bagger down the right foul line by Howard, produced the three runs. With the bases filled and none out Lundgren was called to duty, and he opened with a base on balls to Ritchey, which forced in the fourth run of the inning. During this inning there was a collision at the plate between Brain and Kling, and the Chicago catcher, who was blocking the plate, was knocked out and the game delayed for five minutes while he was being brought around. When he resumed his place back of the bat the crowd of 2,570 gave him a round of applause for his pluck.

Lundgren proved much more steady than Reulbach, but his curves were hit often enough to bring home two more tallies, and it required rapid fielding on the part of the Cubs to keep other runners from crossing the plate. Ganley led off the fourth inning for the locals and Clarke drew a base on balls. The runners were advanced on a sacrifice by Leach and Ganley scored on Wagner's fly-out to Slagle. In the seventh Wagner beat out a slow grounder and went to second on a wild throw by Tinker, which Chance was slow in fielding, and scored on a single to middle by Brain.

Mike Lynch pitched the game for the Pirates and had the Cubs guessing at all stages of the game. Lynch would have scored a shut-out but for some wobbly playing back of him in the third inning. The mistakes were made by Gibson and Brain, and resulted in three runs for the Cubs. In this inning Lynch lost the location of the home plate and passed two batsmen to first, but at that the side should have been shut out but for the misplays. Slagle opened this inning by beating out an infield bounder and Hoffman followed with a single to left. Slagle went to third on the hit and scored when Gibson made a bad throw to catch Hoffman at second.

Chance drew a base on balls and took second on a fly to Leach, who held Hoffman at third by a good throw to the plate. Maloney drove one at Brain, which he fumbled, allowing Hoffman to score and the batter to reach first. Evers doubled to left, scoring Chance with the third run.

During the first inning the Chicago players got after Umpire Klem, claiming he was giving Reulbach the worst of it on balls and strikes. The most vehement was Casey, who was ordered out of the game, Hoffman taking his place at third base, where he showed some clever work. In the ninth, with two out, Hoffman reached first on a fumble by Wagner and scored on a three-base drive to middle by Chance. Schulte ended the game, going out from Wagner to Howard.

The players on both teams seemed to be affected with that tired feeling from their extra exertions of Monday, and the contest was both long drawn out and tiresome; in fact, the spectators kept yelling at them to wake up and make the contest lively and interesting. There were no sensational plays and a contest which should have been finished in a little over an hour was allowed to drag along for two hours. Ganley once more showed his worth as a player, scoring two of the Pirates' runs, having two clean hits, a sacrifice and a base on balls to his credit. The score:

BELLEVERNON IS CHAMPION.

Defeats Brownsville and People Are Wild With Delight.

BELLEVERNON, PA., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—By defeating Brownsville in a weird game today Bellevernon cinched the championship in the Monongahela Valley league. While there are yet three games to play, Brownsville could do no better than get within one game of tieing should it win all and Bellevernon lose all. Bellevernon has been in the lead from the opening game on July 8, and it was only tied until the next game was played. The town is wild tonight as Brownsville is an old rival anyway, and numerous scores have been evened. Twenty-five hundred people saw the game, which was characterized by hard hitting at times, with an occasional touch of sensational fielding. Score:

TRAGEDY ON THE TRACK AT GRAND CIRCUIT MEET

Sadie Mac, the Canadian Queen, Drops Dead While Making Desperate Effort to Win.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARTFORD, CONN., Sept. 5.—The opening day of the Grand Circuit races at Charter Oak park ended in a tragedy, when Sadie Mac, the Canadian queen, dropped dead in the fourth heat of the $10,000 Charter Oak trot, the classic event of the meet. She fell about 200 yards from the finish when making a desperate effort to regain a lead which she gallantly held until rounding the last turn. Sadie Mac seemed to have lost her strength just at the period when her driver was urging her to do her best, but she was exhausted and, dropping to the track, rolled over and died instantly. A veterinary surgeon attributed death to a broken blood vessel, and horsemen who had been watching her declared that she acted strangely all the afternoon.

The gallant mare had met her Waterloo, failing to take a single heat of the four that were run. It was apparent from the outset that she was in the fastest company of her brilliant turf career, and she died trying to save her laurels.

Angiola, Zephyr and Glenwood M all proved too fast for her today. Sadie Mac was a big favorite in the first heat, but finished only third, and it was then that the big following of horsemen scented something amiss. At the end of the first heat she broke badly and appeared logy. Eight times the field had to score in this heat and Driver Stinson attributed Sadie Mac's defeat to the fact that she was tired out by the time the word to go was given.

When the tragic climax came hundreds of men thronged on the track, and when it was announced that the great mare was dead all sorts of rumors spread through the crowd. It was first hinted that she had been drugged, but those wild rumors were finally discredited and the word of the veterinary was accepted.

When Sadie Mac's owner, Miss Katherine Wilkes, who was in a private box, heard of her death, she was deeply affected and left the grounds immediately. Summaries:

BIG RACE TRAIN JUST GETTING IN

BOATS AT FOOT OF WOOD ST.

Brunots island is putting on airs for the two-days' races, commencing tomorrow. The painter and the calcimine artist were brushing things up yesterday and the whitewashed fences forecasted a race meeting of more than ordinary importance. The painter touched up the grand stand and other buildings to good effect in preparation for the fast steppers and their friends.

The track is in prime condition for fast time and it is predicted that the time here will be better than in Chicago.

The special train of seven cars, carrying some of the greatest light harness performers of the day, will not reach the island track until this morning. It was the intention to have it shipped from Chicago Monday evening, but the races were not concluded until dark and the horses had to be cooled off, after which it was too late to start. The speeders left Chicago yesterday afternoon and will arrive early this morning.

An unusually good entry list is assured and there will be seven events each day, including the free-for-all trot and pace, bringing together fields that will furnish better racing than has ever before been seen in Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburghers who attended the races in Chicago returned home yesterday morning. They brought the gold challenge cup won by Dr. Strong last Thursday, and it is on exhibition at Bennett's, in Wood street. It is a handsome trophy and attracts much attention.

During the races here Dr. Strong will have some speed marvels to go against, but the gray gelding is said to be in fine shape to repeat his Chicago performance. Pittsburgh will likely have two fast ones in the free-for-all trot that were not in the gold cup race. They are Robin C., 2:09¾, owned by R. H. Boggs, and Uncle William, 2:09¾, owned by J. R. McCune. Besides Mr. Billings will have something good in this race, as will the Cleveland people.

In the seven events each day will be found some of the greatest harness flyers in the country from stables from Chicago, Memphis, Cleveland, Boston and Pittsburgh.

The Matinee club has arranged for boats to leave the foot of Wood street every half hour after 1 o'clock. Street cars will leave the foot of Fifth avenue every five minutes after 1 o'clock.

FOR CLEANER ATHLETICS.

Wash.-Jeff. Goes in for Pure Amateurs for its Teams.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Preparations for football at Washington and Jefferson are more pretentious than in former years. A training quarters and club house have been rented in which to house and feed the candidates. The building is close to both the athletic field and the college. Coach Piekarski expects to have a fast team this year. There will be but few of the old men back.

Athletics at Washington and Jefferson have undergone a purging. Hereafter there will be no more doubtful students on any of the teams. The first football practice of the season was held at College park this morning and will continue until the opening of college next Tuesday, when the freshman class will be looked over and new material given a trial.

He added in his message that he would leave Los Angeles tonight for this city, so as to arrive here in ample time for the encounter, which will take place on Saturday afternoon.

Both men are in perfect condition. The odds remain at 10 to 7, with Britt on the long end.

WHO CHANGED RYAN'S CLOTHES?

Takes Drink in Khaki Uniform and Dies from Poison Shortly After Garbed in Blue.

HIS LIFE IS THREATENED

When Private Michael Ryan of Company I, First United States infantry, stood at the bar in the saloon at Forty-first and Butler streets, on the evening of August 16, taking his last glass of beer, he wore a khaki uniform. When he was picked up unconscious on the pavement in front of the arsenal, one square away, less than 20 minutes later, from the effects of an enormous quantity of chloral, he wore an army uniform of regulation blue. Why, when, and where was this change made? This is one of the scores of questions which might be asked in connection with this mysterious murder, which the police are unable to answer. Resting easily on a theory of suicide, which was uninvestigated, the police incline to leave the facts surrounding the mystery lie undeveloped.

Five minutes before Private Ryan dropped unconscious in front of the arsenal gate, never to recover, he borrowed 10 cents from Private J. S. Hensley, who was doing guard duty at the gate. Ryan had told Hensley that he needed car fare, and was accommodated. The 10-cent piece given him was found in his pockets after death. If Ryan took his own life and knew that he had one ounce of chloral working in his system, it is hard to understand why he should have borrowed car fare at a time when he would have expected death momentarily.

What Police Might Have Learned.

Among other facts which might have come before a diligent police is the fact that Ryan's life had been threatened and that he seriously feared that threat. About one week previous to his death, Ryan, with a fellow soldier, entered a pool room near the arsenal to watch a game that was in progress. While seated in the room two of the players spied him. They were strangers to him. Without any provocation or known reason, one of them exclaimed:

"There is that —— soldier," probably taking him for Dowd.

Ryan exhibited no resentment until the two men began a tirade against the men who wear the army uniform and made insulting remarks against the uniform itself. This wounded Ryan's patriotic price and a quarrel ensued.

During the heat of the argument a blow was struck, and Ryan, being a powerful man, challenged to fight every man in the room, one at a time. The two strangers accepted the challenge, and according to the story told by the soldiers yesterday, he punished both of them unmercifully.

After being thoroughly vanquished and while still suffering from the bruises of an awful beating, one of the men declared: "I'll fix you yet, and fix you right, if it takes me the rest of my life!"

Ryan Feared for His Life.

Ryan and his companion returned to the arsenal, where Ryan announced that he feared that the men would kill him if they had the opportunity and that he firmly believed they were desperate characters. After the incident he never ventured in the vicinity of the pool room, and had repeatedly announced that while he did not fear to meet the men in honest conflict, that he firmly believed that they would use any foul means to do him bodily harm or take his life, and that he would evade every possibility of giving them the chance.

The county detectives, who were compelled to take up the work which the city police shirked, have been compelled to devote themselves to the hunt for Thomas C. Russell, the escaped insane murderer, during the past few days. They are believed to have followed out clues in the case which promise a development, and should the police persist in their inactivity these clues will again be taken up when Russell is apprehended.

Ryan's leave-taking of his companions in the saloon on the night of his death is in great measure explained by what was one of his chief characteristics, as attested to yesterday by a score of soldiers at the arsenal.

He is said to have been a man of marked liberality and spent and loaned money freely to his companions, being in receipt of considerable money from his relatives, who are reputed as being wealthy. While a very temperate drinker he was always known to persistently refuse an invitation to take a drink with others, unless he was in a position to reciprocate. On the night of his death he was only persuaded to go along on the promise of Britt, his closest companion, that only one drink was to be purchased and that Britt, who had 50 cents, was to be the buyer. It was upon the arrival of the three civilians, one of whom still remains unnamed, that Ryan excused himself and made his exit.

CHEMIST GIVES VIEWS ON RYAN MURDER CASE

The wide interest taken in the Ryan murder mystery in all quarters aside from the police department is shown by a communication received by The Gazette from a local analytical and consulting chemist, which in part is as follows:

"I am glad to see you keep up the agitation in the Ryan poisoning case. According to the physicians' statements Ryan took at least one ounce of chloral hydrate. This quantity requires at least a half-ounce of pure alcohol to dissolve, or a greater quantity of water. Such a quantity of solution cannot be poured out of the usual narrow-mouthed bottle in the brief time a bystander would be able to take. The dry chloral hydrate, if dropped into a glass of beer, would settle in the bottom of the glass just as sugar settles in the bottom of a hot cup of tea."

The writer then suggests several clues which offer encouraging possibilities and gives his knowledge of conditions and persons associated with the affair that might offer a solution if worked out. They are at the disposal of the police.

MORE FENDERS TO TEST.

Director Moore Hopes to Be Able to Select the Safety Device.

At 3 p. m. on Friday, at some point to be designated by John Murphy, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, there will be another test of street car fenders. Director Moore of the department of public safety, wants to have eight fenders tested and they, and perhaps others to be offered by other inventors, will be tried out.

Director Moore said yesterday that he thought he would be able, after the test, to select a fender to be put on the cars, in compliance with the ordinance requiring fenders. The director was dissatisfied with the fenders tried at the previous test and hopes some better ones will be offered next time.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—The engagement of Miss Mildred Harrison of this city to Count Karl Holstein of Germany was announced today. Miss Harrison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Harrison and niece of C. C. Harrison, provost of the University of Pennsylvania. The Count Karl Holstein comes of one of the oldest families of Germany.

ROENIGK POINTS WAY TO WEALTH

Shows What the Special Committee on Revenue Discovered in Its Researches.

COMPLIMENTS THE MAYOR

The councilmanic special committee on revenue was called to meet yesterday in Mayor Hays' office, and although there was not a quorum Chairman A. G. Roenigk read a report showing what the committee did during the summer in trying to trace sources of revenue which the city might collect. Mayor Hays and Controller Larkin were present.

Mr. Roenigk showed that the old Citizens Passenger Railway Company's charter required it to keep Penn avenue clean from curb to curb from Cecil alley to Thirty-fourth street, and he figured that if the company obeys its charter the city would get $12,000 annually from that source alone. This road had gone into the hands of the Citizens Traction Company, which had secured other franchises binding it to pave, keep in repair and clean only between the tracks and two feet on each side of the tracks. The conditions on which other companies got their franchises would also bring revenue to the city, if enforced. Mr. Roenigk said, and he praised the Pittsburgh Railways Company for agreeing to pay any claim substantiated.

The mayor, Roenigk said, had devised a new system of police magistrate reports by which the city would gain $5,000 revenue a year, and water rents from contractors collected last month were $2,000 better than in the corresponding month of last year. He complimented City Solicitor Rodgers, Miss Geiger and Miss McCallin, clerks in the controller's office, Controller Larkin himself and several bureau superintendents for the aid they had rendered the committee.

Mr. Roenigk also submitted an opinion from City Solicitor Rodgers. Mr. Rodgers said that where provisions of the charters of traction companies and of the franchises they got from the city specified duty to be performed or money to be paid the companies could be compelled to carry out their contracts, unless those provisions had been revoked. The fact that the later companies formed to take over earlier street car corporations were relieved of conditions imposed on the underlying companies, might cause the original conditions to be void, but, as in some of the later ordinances the fact that this release was made did not appear in the title of the ordinances, the city might still be able to compel the holding companies to fulfill the duties of the underlying companies.

The committee on surveys affirmatively recommended ordinances establishing the grades on Asbury place, Frank, Meyers, Holden and Lilac streets.

The committee on public works negatively recommended ordinances for opening, grading and paving Fillmore street, in the Fourteenth ward, between Dithridge street and Bellefield avenue, because they did not contain the estimates of cost. The committee could have returned the ordinances to councils to have the estimates incorporated, and the residents of the neighborhood are indignant because this was not done, believing that it is the intention to kill the ordinances. The part of Fillmore street to be graded and paved is that portion which H. C. Frick sought to have vacated about a year ago. At that time the residents held a mass meeting and succeeded in killing Mr. Frick's ordinance. If the street is vacated it will revert to Frick because he owns the property on both sides of it.

The ordinance permitting A. L. Richmond, Jr., to build a bridge over an alley between Fifth street and Evans alley was referred to a committee composed of Councilmen J. J. McKelvey, W. A. Collins and Richard McNally.

MIXED ASSORTMENT OF DUTIES FALL TO LOT OF FATHER PANUSKA

A funeral, wedding and two christening services followed each other in rapid succession yesterday morning in Holy Trinity Slavonic Roman Catholic church, McKeesport, with the Rev. Father W. A. Panuska presiding in each case.

The first to arrive were Irma Stavnicky and Verona Keteles, in all their wedding finery, together with a large following of wedding guests. The priest had just begun the marriage service when the funeral cortege of Janko Blazic, a Croatian of Port Vue, drove up, both services having been set for the same time by mistake.

In order not to delay the funeral, the marriage service was suspended and the funeral ritual gone through with. After the last mourner had passed out, the mariage was performed and before the witnesses could depart, two young candidates for christening were carried into the church.

Interferes With Water Supply.

Aspinwall's supply of water from wells located near the river is being diminished because of the building of a cofferdam to facilitate the laying of Pittsburgh's twin pipe line from Aspinwall to the Brilliant pumping station. The borough's residents have already begun to fear a water famine. If work on the cofferdam still further lessens the supply of water it may be necessary to put intake pipes in the river so that for a while Aspinwall citizens may have to be satisfied with unfiltered water.

Police Inspectors Shift Positions.

Inspector Bailey and Capt. Emmett of the Oakland police district were yesterday transferred to the East End district and Inspector McEvoy and Capt. Callen of that district were detailed to take charge of the Oakland district.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 2 o'clock last night was 3.1 feet and the river was stationary.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 5.—At 6 p. m. today the Ohio river was 8.8 feet and falling. The packets are beginning to lay up pending the water, which usually comes at this time of the year. The water is so low that packets cannot get above Wheeling. The Virginia arrived here today. While here the boat will undergo her usual annual repairs. While the boats are to be laid up this has been a most satisfactory season to steamboat operators along the Ohio river from Louisville up. The water has held out unusually long, while below the falls the water was not sufficient to allow of the navigation of any boats of a size to accommodate the long run trades. Reports from headwaters indicate another rise at hand. The volume will not be great enough, however, to allow of the shipment of coal. The water is coming out of the Kanawha district and will not touch the headwaters of either the Allegheny or Monongahela rivers. Clear and cooler.

LOUISVILLE—Stationary. In canal, 4.5 feet; on falls, 2.3 feet; below locks, 9 feet. Clear and cool.

OIL CITY—Five inches and falling. Cloudy and cool.

GREENSBORO—Six feet 5 inches and stationary. Fair and cool. Woodward down Wednesday; Columbia up.

PARKERSBURG—Four feet, 5 inches and falling. Clear and cool. The Valley Belle left for Middleport; the French for Creston. The Bessie got off the docks and left for Wheeling.

WARREN—Low water mark. Cold and rainy.

WHEELING—Three feet and 2 inches and falling. Cloudy and cool. Departed: H. K. Bedford, Parkersburg; Jewel, Newport.

GALLIPOLIS—Seven feet and rising. Cloudy and cool.

POINT PLEASANT—Five feet and falling. Cloudy. Down: Tacoma, Virginia; up, Greenland.

PACKETS CEASE RUNNING.

Lower Water Keeps All Lower River Boats Out of Pittsburgh.

Until a decided rise comes no more packets from the lower river will get into this port. The Kanawha got up to Rochester yesterday from Charleston but will not attempt another trip until the fall rise comes. The Lorena, from the Muskingum valley, expected to reach Rochester and will not likely attempt another trip until the rains bring more water. The Cincinnati boats are all out of commission.

The Monongahela river packets are the only ones now in operation and they can run all the year around, thanks to the slackwater system. The I. C. Woodward came in yesterday from Morgantown and departed last evening.

The Island Queen went to Dravosburg yesterday and took out the members of the First Methodist Episcopal church of that place for a day's outing on the river. An enjoyable trip was made up the Monongahela. The Beauty last evening took out an excursion of Brownsville bankers.

McKeesport's New Federal Building.

H. J. Etherton, a representative of William Weber of Galveston, Tex., who secured the contract for the erection of the new federal building in McKeesport, arrived in that city yesterday and at once advertised for bids for the excavating, which is to be let to local contractors. The sub-contracts are expected to be let within a week and the contractor hopes to have the excavating done by the middle of next month. The contract time for the building is February 20, 1907.

Director May Shut Off Water.

Director Bigelow thinks he can solve the problem presented by those residents of the Eleventh and Fourteenth wards who refuse to allow the city to place water meters in their houses. The director said yesterday that if householders refuse to allow the city workmen to instal meters the water may be shut off. Controller Larkin is one of the objectors to metered water service, and defies the city to shut off water from his house because of his refusal to allow the installation of a meter.

THE Rev. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, will solemnize the marriage of Miss Kathrene Louise Gilleland and Charles H. King on Thursday evening, September 14. It will take place in the Hotel Schenley at 6:30 o'clock, with a bridal party including the matron of honor, Mrs. W. Arthur Gilleland; maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Brinker; flower girl, Miss Kathrene Bowers, a little cousin of the bride from Lancaster; bridesmaids, Miss Blanche Duke and Miss Ida Niele; best man, W. Arthur Gilleland, brother of the bride, and several ushers who are not yet chosen. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson A. Gilleland of Hay street, Wilkinsburg. Her fiance is a nephew of Mrs. Alexander King of Baywood, North Negley avenue, East End, and a grandson of the late Robert H. King of Allegheny. He will take his bride to Pasadena, Cal., where they will receive their friends after October 15. Miss Gilleland was honor guest at a linen shower and euchre given by Mrs. Arthur Gilleland on Thursday last. Miss Duke will give a dinner tomorrow for the bride-elect, and on Monday Miss Brinker will be hostess at a handkerchief shower. Mr. King will give his bachelor dinner at the Schenley on Thursday, and on the following evening the rehearsal will take place.

Lambie-Shannon.

A pretty and unique wedding was solemnized at Glen Osborne last evening, when Miss Mary Siebert Lambie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Lambie, was married to Mr. Joseph Fleming Shannon of Edgeworth. The Rev. Albert F. Siebert of Germantown, an uncle of the bride, officiated, assisted by the Rev. E. M. Milligan, pastor of the Sewickley United Presbyterian church. There was an unusually large bridal party, including Miss Helen Lambie, maid of honor; Mrs. E. B. Dithridge, matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Annie Lambie, Miss Mary McKinney, Miss Mary Haines, Miss Grace Davis, Miss Kathryn Kelly of Sewickley, Miss Carrie Siebert of Germantown and Miss Olive Denniston of the East End. The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Shannon of Edgeworth, had as best man his brother, William T. Shannon. The ushers were Edward B. Dithridge, Simpson Musgrave, K. Schneider, Edward Boohyer, Wallace Scott, Charles Lambie, William and Donald Rose. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock on the handsome lawn in front of the bride's home. Electric lights and Japanese lanterns were provided, and a handsome arch had been built facing the house, which was trimmed with lights and flowers. The bridal party proceeded from the house down the lawn to the arch, under which the ceremony was performed. The 200 guests were seated between the arch and the house. The orchestra was hidden at one end of the veranda and played softly during the entire ceremony. The bride was given away by her father. A reception followed the wedding, and dinner was served. The bride wore a gown of white chiffon cloth, with trimmings of point applique. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maids and matron were all attired alike, wearing white batiste trimmed with lace and embroidered applique. They wore shower sashes of chiffon ribbon and maiden hair ferns. The maid of honor carried white roses, the others carrying maiden hair ferns, tied with chiffon ribbon. After October 1 Mr. and Mrs. Shannon will be at home in Edgeworth.

Blumberg-Friend.

The Hotel Schenley was the scene of an exceedingly pretty wedding at 6 o'clock last evening, the bride being Mrs. Albert Blumberg's daughter, Miss Caroline Blumberg, while the bridegroom was Charles Friend, a Milwaukee attorney. The Rev. Dr. S. Hirshberg performed the ceremony, with the immediate relatives and most intimate friends of the couple as witnesses. Miss Alice Friend, the bridegroom's sister, was the maid of honor, the bride's only other attendant being a little cousin, Miss Madeline Crone. Louis Friend was his brother's best man. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin and point lace and carried a prayer book marked with lilies of the valley. A long tulle veil completed her toilette. Both Miss Friend and Miss Crone were in white, their gowns having lace trimmings. The former carried an armful of farleyense fern while on the arm of the flower maiden hung a leghorn hat filled with candy tuft. As a background for the bridal party there were tall, gracefully waving palms flanked by wicker gate posts in garden effect. On the posts were large drooping Cibodium ferns. For the wedding supper a dumb-bell shaped table was arranged with decorations of low mounds of white asters and lilies on the round portions and a high centerpiece of the same flowers. Smilax was trailed over the window curtains and around the large pillars, while on the piano was a vase of white asters. At the conclusion of their wedding trip, which they began last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Friend will reside in Milwaukee.

Wunderly-Heyl.

Wearing a neat traveling suit of gray with a hat of heliotrope, Miss Amalia Katherine Wunderly yesterday morning became the bride of Andrew M. Heyl. The Rev Father Emeran performed the ceremony at 6 o'clock in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Allegheny, this being followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wunderly, in Villa avenue. Miss Margaret Wunderly, the bride's sister, was her only attendant, and the bridal party also included the best man, George A. Heyl. The maid of honor appeared in a suit of gray, but her hat was of navy blue. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smeich of Philadelphia and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry of Cumberland, Md., were among the out-of-town guests at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Heyl will receive their friends in East street, Allegheny, on days after October 1. They are now in the east on their wedding trip.

Hampsey-Koessler.

White roses and asters with palms carried out a color scheme of green and white at the wedding of Miss Cecelia Hampsey and H. B. Koessler in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church yesterday morning. Nine o'clock was the hour appointed for the ceremony, at which the Rev. Father Haeckler officiated. The only attendants were the maid of honor, Miss Stella Wenzel of Washington, Pa., and the best man, Frank Koessler of New Kensington. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine and duchesse lace and a lace hat trimmed with white plums. She carried white roses. Miss Wenzell also wore white crepe and a lace hat with plumes. Following the church ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hampsey, in Arlington avenue, South Side, and during the afternoon the bridal couple left for a tour of the Thousand Islands. Days at home in New Kensington have been announced for after October 1.

Sprague-Rainbow.

A green and white wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague, widow of Dr. Edwin Sprague, in Coraopolis at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when her daughter, Miss Mary Hare Sprague, was married to Frederick Lee Rainbow, Jr., of Fair Oaks, Pa. The Rev. R. M. Blackwood, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Coraopolis, performed the ceremony in the presence of 30 guests, all relatives of the contracting parties. The bride and groom were unattended. After a Canadian trip Mr. and Mrs. Rainbow will be at home after October 15 in Monongahela, where the bridegroom is superintendent of the Robinson Machine Company's plant.

Porch Party for School Girl.

Miss Mabel C. Stonerod of Woodworth avenue, East End, will give a porch party this evening in honor of Miss Mary E. Stewart, who leaves on Friday to resume her studies at Linden Hall seminary. Among the guests this evening will be Miss Irene Negley, Miss Winifred Armstrong, Miss Marie Armstrong, Miss Edith Sphreck, Miss Emily Daw, Miss Patience Byler, Graham Voorhees, Chalmers Van Anglen, George Sphrack, Thomas Rose, Robert Long, Walter Hill and Fred Miller.

Notes of Society.

Dr. C. F. Bingaman has returned from his summer vacation, which was spent at Poland Springs, Me., and Ocean City, Md.

Mrs. John F. Morrison of Oakmont entertained last evening at a luncheon in honor of her cousin, Miss Helen Morrison, who is her house guest.

Among the Clubs.

Many Children Need Care.

An unusual number of applications for the care of children was brought before the Children's Aid society of Allegheny county yesterday afternoon. Twelve applications were received, an unprecedented number to be presented at one meeting, and all will be taken care of by the society, though it has not homes enough now in which to place the children. None of the cases was turned over to it from the juvenile court and nearly all are cases of desertion, some of the children being orphans, though most of them have one parent living. The society will try to find private homes for all. Mrs. J. L. Anderson, one of the members of the board, said yesterday, believing that there the best safeguards can be placed about the children.

The Children's Aid society of Allegheny county now has 170 under its care, exclusive of those whose applications were considered yesterday. Five children were received during August. Since its organization almost 20 years ago, the society has cared for over 1,300. Where a mother or father is able to pay a little toward the expense of keeping the children, this is done, but in the majority of cases the society meets the expense until the children are adopted into suitable homes.

Opening of Whist Season.

Whist is to be more popular this season in Pittsburgh than ever before, according to the indications at this time. The Pittsburgh Whist League will have its first meeting of the fall in the Twentieth Century club on October 16, but already the women members of the clubs composing the league, who are in the city, are meeting informally almost every morning, a quartet of players gathering for practice game. At the opening meeting of the league the Allegheny Whist club will be the hostess and the game will be compass whist, with pins for the highest scores made north, south, east and west. The officers of the league are Mrs. Robert J. Cunningham, president; Mrs. Samuel Ayers and Mrs. William D. Hamilton, vice presidents; Mrs. William F. Abel, secretary, and Mrs. Thomas McKaig, treasurer.

Late Commencing its Work.

The Epoch club will be one of the last of the women's clubs to resume its meetings this season. Its opening meeting will be held November 6. The club has not yet elected a delegate to represent it at the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in October. The officers of the club include Mrs. Frank H. Taylor, president; Mrs. Frank T. Hogg and Mrs. Samuel B. Griffith, vice presidents; Mrs. J. B. Dunn, secretary; Mrs. George Oliver, treasurer.

Will Give a Play.

Though the Vassar Students' Aid society will not hold a meeting for several weeks, the young women are already preparing for rehearsals for the play which will be given the last of October or possibly early in November. The play was postponed from last spring, because no suitable place could be secured in which to present it. A hall has not yet been secured, but the society is determined to give the play, the proceeds of which are to be used for its scholarship fund.

Colloquium Meets in October.

The Colloquium club will hold its opening meeting and president's reception October 9, at the Pennsylvania College for Women. Mrs. Grace W. Warmcastle is the new president of Colloquium, the other officers being Mrs. Charles R. Wray, vice president; Mrs. John F. Shafer, recording secretary; Miss Jean Lyons, corresponding secretary; Miss Jean Palmer, treasurer.

"Little Johnny Jones."

"Laugh and the world laughs with you" and they say it puts flesh on your bones, and Pittsburghers are fixin' to go to the Nixon next week where they'll see "Johnny Jones." For Pittsburgh folks have heard of the great success of this now famous comedy set to music, and are anxious to see George M. Cohan and his singing and dancing hundred that have made old New York sit up and look pleasant for the past 26 weeks, to say nothing of the 16 weeks that Chicago said "fine." One of the strongest features of "Little Johnny Jones" is its catchy and whistleable music, there being no less than 18 of these song punctuations besides innumerable choruses.

Postoffice Receipts Increasing.

The report of business done at the Pittsburgh postoffice during August was completed yesterday, and Postmaster George L. Holliday announced that for the month ended August 31, $133,648.32 had been taken in, making a gain of 13.18 per cent over the receipts for the same period last year. The receipts in August, 1904, amounted to $118,074.01. The receipts for July increased 18 per cent the same period last year, and was the largest gain of any postoffice in the country.

TORTURING SKIN HUMOR

Whole Body Mass of Itching Sores and Scales—Awful Suffering for Fifteen Years—Terribly Disfigured—Doctors and Medicines Did No Good—Had Lost Hope.

CURED BY CUTICURA IN TWO WEEKS

"My head was one mass of scabs, and my forehead was covered down almost to my eyebrows. I had to wear my hat all the time. My legs, arms, and body were covered with spots in size from a pin-head to as large as a silver dollar. A white, crusty scab would form and itch, and words cannot express how I suffered for fifteen years. I tried many doctors and all kinds of treatments, but could get no help, and thought there was no hope for me.

"A friend told me about Cuticura, and I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and in three days my head was as clear as ever. I applied the Ointment night and morning, also taking a hot bath three times a week, and using the Ointment freely after the bath. After using one cake of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was completely cured, without a mark on my head or body. I was so pleased I felt like taking my hat in my hand and running down the street to tell every one I met what Cuticura had done for me. I shall never use any other but Cuticura Soap. If any one is in doubt about this, they may write to me. (signed) H. B. Franklin, 717 Washington St., Allegheny, Pa."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for every Humor, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Infancy to Age, consisting of Cuticura Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c., Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), may be had of all druggists. A single set often cures. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. A FEW SPECIAL STOCKS SCORED SHARP ADVANCES

Canadian Pacific, Smelting and Reading Leaders in Upward Movement—Local Stocks Continued Dull, but Were Firm and Higher.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The strength of a few specialties gave the New York stock market the appearance of great strength yesterday. The opening was active and higher all around, and during the morning session there was considerable buoyancy to the dealings. In the early part of the afternoon dullness set in, followed by a general reaction, but closing prices were dull above those at the close on Saturday. Sales for the first two hours exceeded 400,000, and for the day approximated 725,000 shares.

The fact that the London market for American securities were very strong over the holiday, and that again yesterday morning London sent higher quotations, was an encouragement for the bulls, and caused some of the nervous shorts to cover. London was a good buyer all day, and it is estimated bought 50,000 shares more than it sold. The additional fact that call loan rates remained easy over the end of the month, and that bankers continued to express the opinion that there will be no stringency this fall, was another source of encouragement. Since last Friday the New York banks have lost $4,600,000 through sub-treasury operations, which for the most part represents the drain of the country upon the east. At the same time the surplus reserves of the banks are unusually low for this season of the year. Despite all this, call loans yesterday did not get above 3 per cent, and during the greater part of the day ruled at 2¼ per cent, closing at 2 bid, 2½ asked. It is generally admitted that the greatest bar to the public's participation in the stock market is the fear of higher rates for money. If these fears can be dissipated by maintaining relatively easy rates, there is little doubt that the public will come in; but the most conservative operators continue to commend the public's attitude of staying out until all doubt as to the future of money is removed.

In the early dealings the greatest advance was scored by Smelting common, which rose from 125 to 128 and closed at 127¼, a net gain of 3½ per cent. This movement was ascribed almost entirely to covering of shorts. Amalgamated Copper opened higher at 83⅛, declined to 83 and rallied to 84⅛. The United States Steel stocks rallied easily, the common reaching 37⅛ and the preferred 104⅜. They each closed ½ per cent higher for the day. Colorado Fuel and Iron closed 1 per cent higher and Tennessee Coal and Iron 1¼ per cent higher.

Reading was the strongest of the railroad issues during the early part of the session, opening at 116⅛ and finally reaching 120⅝, the net gain being 4½ per cent. It was reported that the stock was scarcer than it was two weeks ago when it made its sensational rise and disturbed the remainder of the market by fears of a "corner" in the stock. Its movement yesterday strengthened the other members of its group, Pennsylvania closing ⅞, Baltimore & Ohio ⅝ and Erie ¾ per cent higher for the day.

Canadian Pacific had the distinction of scoring the highest price of the year, selling at 166¼ and closing at 166⅜, a net advance of 4¾ per cent. This stock has been bought by foreigners for some time past and yesterday there was a rumor that the grass and timber lands owned by the company were to be capitalized. The inference was that stockholders would benefit in the shape of a stock dividend, or rights to subscribe for new stock at par, which would be equivalent to a stock dividend. It is probable, however, that the movement was celebrated by covering of shorts, which were put out some time ago on the news of new competition for the road. The other high-class railroad stocks were firm and higher, Union and Southern Pacific each gaining a point and the remainder of the list fractional amounts.

The news of the day was of a rather neutral character, except the government report on cotton, which reported a further deterioration in condition, but cotton closed lower and the southern group of railroad stocks ignored the matter.

The local stock market remained exceedingly dull, but displayed a firmer tone, and prices closed higher. A feature of the early session was the dealings in Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone 5s. A block of $50,000 was posted at 86½, an advance of 4¼ per cent over the final quotation last week. This was followed by $1,000 at 87 and $30,000 at 83, the closing quotations being 82½ bid, 83 asked. Independent Brewing bonds closed unchanged, $5,000 changing hands at 107. Crucible Steel preferred advanced ⅝ per cent to 64⅝, on the sale of 100 shares, closing at 64⅝ bid. There were no transactions in the common stock, which closed at 12½@12¾. National Fire Proofing common declined to 7, while the preferred advanced to 26¾. Pittsburgh Coal preferred rallied 2 per cent to 55, and closed at 54½ bid. There were no transactions in any of the Westinghouse stocks, which closed steady and unchanged. Natural Gas stocks were firmer, Manufacturers Light and Heat rallying to 36½ and Ohio Fuel Supply to 43⅜. Lustre Mining rallied to 37½, and United Copper to 37, but Tonopah Extension was a fraction lower at $5 85. Independent Brewing preferred rallied to 40½. Pittsburgh Brewing was unchanged at 26¼ for the common and 48 for the preferred. American Window Glass preferred sold at 41.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Bank exchanges increased $3,300,000 for the day.

Stock market continued dull, but closed higher.

P. & A. Telephone bonds active at 82½ to 83.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred rallied 2 per cent, to 55.

Crucible Steel preferred rallied to and closed at 64⅝ bid.

IN WALL STREET

Buoyancy of special stocks helped the whole market.

Sales included 776,000 shares stock and $3,520,000 bonds.

Canadian Pacific rallied to 166½, the highest of the year.

Reading rallied from 116 to 120⅝ and closed at 120.

Call loans did not get above 2 and closed at 2¼ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Even the chronic bulls in Wall street are somewhat surprised that call loan rates remain so low, considering the smallness of the surplus reserves and the increasing demands of expanding business all over the country. At one time yesterday afternoon money was freely offered on the New York stock exchange at 2 per cent, and the bulk of the business was at 2 to 2½ per cent. It is suggested that the large increase in national bank circulation, which does not figure in the reserve because it is not a legal tender, but which performs all other functions of money, will serve to tide the market over the period when stringency usually occurs. The amount of national bank notes in the hands of the public on the first inst. was $492,000,000, an increase of $59,000,000 over the corresponding date a year ago, and of this increase about $12,500,000 was reported as held by the New York banks. The chief bar to the public's participation in the stock market has been the fear of tight money this fall. If this fear can be removed, the public is likely to forget the high average prices and become more largely interested in the speculation. Yesterday, however, commission houses reported that there was little or no increase in outside business, the heaviest trading, aside from that for London account, being by the speculative cliques.

Charles A. Painter, president of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, who spent some time in New York last week, said yesterday: "Some of the most prominent bankers in the country assured me that there was no probability of stringent money this fall. Some of the larger stock exchange commission houses, anticipating an advance in rates, have supplied themselves with time money, and the lowness at which rates are quoted for 90-day and six months' loans, is evidence of the sincerity of bankers when they say they do not look for a squeeze in the money market. The very fact that borrowers have anticipated their wants to a considerable extent is a safeguard against trouble."

The dealings in Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone bonds attracted much attention on the local board. A block of $50,000 at 86½ was posted, Masten & Co. to H. M. Hooker, followed by $1,000 at 87, R. C. Hall to Hooker, and $30,000 at 83, Hall to Speer Bros. and R. E. Miles. The bonds closed at 82½ bid, 83 asked. The sale at 87 is the highest price ever recorded. It is reported that Baltimore has been offering these bonds here freely of late at prices ranging from 83 to 85.

The feature of the Boston market yesterday was the 3-point jump in North Butte to 38. On the Pittsburgh exchange the stock was bid up rapidly to 33½ at the close. Last Saturday the stock was offered at 35 and quoted at 34½ bid.

The government reported the condition of cotton at 72.1, a decline of 2.8 from the July estimate. Cotton speculators had looked for a greater deterioration, and when the figures were published there was a break in the cotton market, which closed near the lowest of the day. The stocks of railroads traversing the cotton belt were not affected by the report, and all closed higher.

In the local curb market yesterday Window Glass Machine common was quoted at 10 bid, 12½ asked; same preferred, 25 asked; Union Natural Gas, 108 bid, 110 asked. Golden Anchor, 87c bid, 89c asked; Oriental and Masbate, 55c bid, 60c asked. Sales were reported of 10 shares Fayette County Gas at 91 and 10 shares Window Glass Machine common at 10.

The advance in Pittsburgh Coal preferred to 55 followed the movement in New York. There were no sales of the common here, but in New York the stock sold at 13¼ to 13¾. A small lot of River Coal preferred sold at 24, a decline of ½.

On the exchange there were sales of Real Estate Trust at 240, Ft. Pitt National Bank at 220, and Bank of Secured Savings at 105—all unchanged from the last previous sales.

The net earnings of Southern Railway for July increased $98,084.

Gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the last week in August increased $25,490, and for the month increased $156,836. Evidently the yellow fever has had no serious effect upon business.

The gross earnings of St. Paul for July decreased $46,522, and the net decreased $71,381.

The United States Reduction and Refining Company declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable October 1. This is the first dividend declared by the company for two years.

More than half the total dealings in the New York bond market consisted of Japanese issues. Sales of the first series 4½s exceeded $1,000,000, and the total for all issues was $1,969,000.

Ohio Fuel Supply stockholders formally ratified the proposition to authorize an increase in the capital from $4,000,000 to $8,000,000. Only $1,000,000, of the stock will be issued at this time at par, $25 a share, to stockholders of record October 20.

Accompanying the rise in Canadian Pacific the story was that a company had been formed to take over the extensive land holdings, and that the Canadian Pacific stockholders were to be offered the privilege of subscribing at par to the stock of the new company.

Railroad traffic officials in speaking yesterday of business and prospects were driven to the use of superlatives. The improvement of general merchandise over the railroad lines is pronounced unparalleled. Shipments of the smaller grains are growing in volume, and officials professed discouragement over the prospect of getting this movement cleared up before the new corn begins to come forward in large volume. Shippers are protesting against the lack of adequate facilities on the part of the roads, and complaints of car shortage come from all quarters. The interruption by yellow fever embargoes makes some exception amongst the southern railroads, but otherwise the chorus of complaints of congested traffic is practically unanimous.

The American Pig Iron Storage Warrant Company has issued the following statement of pig iron stocks in warrant yards as of August 31, 1905: On hand July 31, 1905, 50,400 tons; received during August, 1,900 tons; total, 52,300 tons. Delivered during August, 8,500 tons. Total on hand as of August 31, 1905, 43,800 tons.

Pig Iron Certificates.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Bids were higher in most cases early in the session of the pig iron market, but without leading to activity, as holders were strong. First call, 11 a. m.:

SEQUEL TO BIG DIAMOND THEFT

Prominent Local Dealer Charged With Receiving Stolen Goods from Convict.

CONSTABLES MAKE REPORT

Judges Macfarlane and Brown were on the bench at the opening of the September term of criminal court yesterday morning, the entire forenoon being taken up with the constables' returns. Before Judge Brown, in the afternoon, Louis J. Marks of 252 Fifth avenue, a prominent diamond dealer, was placed on trial on a charge of receiving stolen goods, made by W. W. Pipes of Euclid avenue, East End. Marks is accused of purchasing a $500 diamond ring from Charles Harris, alias Miller, a noted diamond thief now in prison at Milwaukee, which was part of $2,700 worth of diamonds he had stolen from Pipes.

Pipes, who is a broker in diamonds, met Harris, who represented himself as a jewelery salesman, in a downtown hotel last October and made arrangements to sell him some diamonds. Harris took Pipes to his room, 1928 Fifth avenue, and under pretense of showing the jewels to his wife left the room with $2,700 worth of Pipes' diamonds, and was not heard of again until he was arrested for a diamond robbery of a similar character in Milwaukee six months later. Detective Oscar J. Siefert located one of the stolen rings in Marks' possession, and his arrest for receiving stolen goods followed.

In his defense Marks admitted buying the ring from John Harris for $50, a watch and a ring, but said he thought him an honest man. The case is still on trial.

Denies He Exceeded Speed Limit.

G. M. Keghan of 710 Webster avenue, chauffeur of the automobile which ran down and seriously injured little Dorothy Hamilton in Howe street on March 8, was tried before Judge Macfarlane on a charge of misdemeanor in exceeding the automobile speed limit. Several witnesses testified that Keghan was speeding at a rate of 15 miles an hour and did not stop after the child was run down. Keghan claims he was only going about three miles an hour when the accident happened. The jury is out in the case.

At the opening of criminal court the grand jury, which was drawn for the September term, went into session to pass upon one of the largest lists of cases which has ever come before the court. James Winterhalter was named as foreman of the grand jury, and in charging the jurymen Judge Macfarlane called special attention to the duty of jurors in keeping secret all matters that come before the body.

The following true bills were returned: Robbery—John Aises, John Washington; felonious assault—Thomas Connell, John Jewett, George Kensovick, James Schmelz, Walter Sewall; larceny—Peter Aiello, Charles Bender, Thomas McNamara, Frank Hacks, William Dougherty, Antonio De Fonso (2), J. M. Jones, Charles Reed, Elizabeth Reed, Mike Soronna, Andrew Bundo; embezzlement—F. M. Sargent, Louis Zex, F. S. Washburn; entering a building—Robert Clark, Martin Duffy, et al.; false pretense—W. J. Robinson (4); aggravated assault and battery—Martin Flaherty; illegal liquor selling—Charles Allen, Marshall Ruff, et al.; assault and battery—Mike Kusmer, John Washington, Henry Tussing; misdemeanor—Kate Dubos, John Law, Maggie Povell, Jacob Webber, John Mustic.

The hearing of the constables' returns by Judge Macfarlane was devoid of any startling features. The Pittsburgh constables in particular went through without trouble. In Allegheny Constable John J. Knollinger of the Thirteenth ward was questioned closely about a club, but he entered strong denials of any knowledge of wrong doing. Constable John Simon of the Twelfth ward, Allegheny, was ordered to make a further investigation of the Valley club. He denied that he knew the club to be a speakeasy or that he knew his brother was a bartender at the club.

Constable Bryan of McKees Rocks was put on the rack about what Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, Jr., called the "official" gambling house, and where Mr. Robb said borough officers gamble. Bryan knew nothing about it, he said. He was shown a letter the district attorney had received and ordered to investigate. Bryan reported several alleged illegal resorts he had raided. The constables of Mt. Oliver, Carrick, Glassport and Ellsworth were questioned about speakeasies and gives some information concerning places of which they had no information.

Ore Dust Nuisance Again.

The suit of William W. McWilliams against the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, another ore-dust nuisance case, is being tried before Judge Frazer. McWilliams owns the property at 3206 Bouquet street, and entered this suit at the time the Sullivan case was brought before the court. It was decided then to use the Sullivan case as a test, but as the Oakland people claim the nuisance still exists the McWilliams action was taken up.

The entire day was used in hearing the side of the prosecution. The evidence taken in the Sullivan case was submitted and a number of exhibits offered to prove that conditions are the same as before the supreme court ordered the steel company to abate the nuisance. This morning the defense will begin to offer evidence.

Charters were granted to the Beechwood Methodist Episcopal church, the Trinity African Methodist Episcopal church, the White Hall Driving association, the Tiziano Vecellio society, and to Sheraden Lodge No. 914, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks.

An opinion was handed down by Judge Young granting an injunction restraining the Ramsey Powder Company from maintaining a magazine for high explosives in Shaler township, near West Etna. The opinion was filed in a suit brought by Edward Hoffman and others. The court finds that the magazine is a nuisance, that the owners could be prosecuted criminally, and that the company should have known that it could not maintain it.

The suit of William Suter against James Stewart, a former assistant chief engineer of the bureau of fire, was advanced to the foot of the present list. Suter was run over while Stewart was driving to a fire and sued for damages. This will be the fourth trial of the case.

Two petitions in bankruptcy were filed. Joseph Seroczynski, a merchant of Pittsburgh, filed a petition, giving his assets as $2,156 39 and his liabilities as $2,139 36. The other was Francis Matrascia, better known as Joseph Caruso, a fruit peddler of 1020 Webster avenue. He gives his assets as $330 and his liabilities as $1,351. Caruso claims an exemption of $300.

Denies the Indebtedness.

L. A. Russell answered the suit brought against him and Charles R. Moore by Robert C. Aiken and others, denying an alleged indebtedness to the plaintiffs of $13,680. The suit was for commissions alleged to arise from a coal land deal.

The T. A. Phillips Gas and Oil Company appealed to the supreme court from the Armstrong county common pleas court in its suit against the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

An appeal was filed by the plaintiff to the superior court in the suit of the Cowanshannock township poor district versus Armstrong county, from the Armstrong county common pleas court.

The Pennsylvania Water Company secured a rule on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company requiring the railroad to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not issue to restrain interference with a main of the plaintiff at Port Perry.

Robert C. Hall filed a replevin suit against the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company and F. M. Wallace for three bonds issued by the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company, valued, it is said, at $3,000.

The auditors report of the receiver's account of the Natalie Anthracite Coal Company was confirmed nisi. It shows a total for distribution of $50,036 59; expenses, $433 47; balance, $49,633 12; preferred claims, $5,698 27. The auditor's report of the trustee's account was also approved nisi.

Angelo Tozzi filed a suit in trespass against R. M. Gulick, Mrs. R. M. Gulick, William H. McCarthy and Mrs. William. No statement was filed.

An inventory and appraisement of the property of William C. Staving, a lunatic, was filed, showing realty worth $17,500 and personalty worth $30,153.

Judge Shafer is hearing the case of D. F. Henry and wife against Sarah L. Black and others, an action to compel the sale of the Duquesne hotel to the Henrys. The case was in the supreme court on a demurrer on which the lower court dismissed the bill. The supreme court overruled this action and decided the case should be heard. The defense began shortly before court adjourned yesterday.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The market for evaporated apples is without change so far as spot supplies are concerned, though it is reported that prime fruit for future delivery can be secured a shade under recent views. Apricots are said to be a shade easier on the coast, but the local spot market is unchanged. Choice, 8@8¼c, extra choice, 8½@8¾c; fancy, 9½@10c. Peaches are still firmly held in primary markets, with fancy fruit quoted at 11½c in the local market. Raisins are without further change. FURTHER RECOVERY IN WALL STREET MARKET

Canadian Pacific and Reading Score Remarkable Improvement.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says: Stocks underwent further recovery yesterday, which was more pronounced and more extensive around midday than it was at the close of the session. In fact, prices ran off in the later trading, and, aside from a few special features, notably Canadian Pacific and Reading, which scored remarkable improvement, the net amount of the recovery was confined within fractional changes. No change was noted in the character of the trading. Dealings appeared to be almost wholly professional, and short covering supplied the bulk of the buying. Activity was limited to comparatively few issues, chiefly such as have recently been conspicuous for advances or later on for declines, and in which the banking pools and cliques are active. Speculative sentiment was divided, but the division of opinion as to market tendencies did not extend beyond the professional operators. So far as influencing factors in the market were concerned, the chief features which contributed to the recovery seemed to be the confident attitude of the London and continental markets and the failure of the money market to display any pronounced signs of stringency. So far as the professional element was concerned, the fact that no pronounced hardening of rates followed the highly unfavorable bank statement of Saturday was regarded as highly satisfactory. Of news there was very little. The formal signing of the treaty of peace between Russia and Japan did not take place until after the close of the market. The government report on cotton, while it showed deterioration of cotton, did so to an extent less than was expected, and cotton broke severely. This decline may have contributed somewhat to the strength of southern railway shares, but the report was scarcely noticed in the stock market.

TOOLE LOSES TEMPER.

Alderman Takes Up Fight in Defense of Brother Who Recently Got Into Law's Clutches.

Alderman S. J. Toole yesterday commenced proceedings to vindicate his brother, Patrick Toole, select councilman from the First ward, who was arrested recently for disorderly conduct. Alderman Toole appeared before Magistrate Kirby and secured a transcript of the case. He also secured transcripts of the cases against George Thompson and James Barry, who were arrested with Councilman Toole and sent to the workhouse for 30 days by Magistrate Moke.

Later Alderman Toole made petitions for writs of habeas corpus for the release of Thompson and Barry. The petitions were made in common pleas court No. 2. E. D. Wilt, magistrate's clerk at Central station, had some words with Toole and Kirby. He informed Toole he had prepared a transcript of Select Councilman Toole's case, but he would have to submit it to the city solicitor before he turned it over to Alderman Toole. However, Magistrate Kirby informed Wilt to give Toole the transcript, which he did.

FORMAL DEALS FOR VALUABLE LOTS

Union Realty Co. Transfers East End and Oakland Properties to Edward Hoopes.

GRANT STREET TRANSACTION

The Union Realty Company has made a formal transfer of two lots of valuable property to Edward Hoopes, secretary of the Iron City Trust Company. The consideration in both deeds is nominal and it is supposed the transfer was made to facilitate the sale of the Union Realty last week. One deal includes 60x100 feet on the south side of Penn avenue, between Highland and Sheridan avenues, East End. This property which was conveyed by Grant McCargo to the Union Realty Company in November, 1903, subject to a mortgage of $105,000 given by Reed B. Coyle, is improved with a two-story brick store and office building, part of which is occupied by the Kelly Wood Real Estate Company.

By the other deed Mr. Hoopes gets title to 20 brick houses in Oakland. The houses are a part of the large lot erected three years ago by the United States Real Estate & Construction Company and are six and eight-room dwellings well rented. They are located as follows: Two on 48x72 feet in Niagara street, two on 48x72 feet on the south side of Carolina street, two on 32x70 feet at the southwest corner of Kennett square and Carolina street, four on 64x63 feet on the southeast side of Elsinore square, near Carolina street, two on 32x66 feet on the south side of Carolina street, one on 16x74 feet at the northwest corner of Elsinore square and Kennett square, one on 20x90 feet on the northwest side of Kennett square, two on 32x75 feet on the southwest side of Kennett square near Ophelia street, four on 64x72 feet on the northwest side of Niagara street near Carolina street, two on 39x72 feet on the west side of Ophelia street near Niagara street. In December, 1904, H. Harris Romer, secretary of the Union Realty Company, secured the Oakland properties at sheriff's sale.

Grant Street Sale of $32,000.

John A. Aull has purchased from George Lang the property at 207 Grant street for $32,000. The lot measures 20x60 feet on the west side of the street and adjoins the Treacey & McTighe holdings at Grant street and Third avenue. A three-story brick building occupied as a store and dwelling constitutes the improvements. The price figures at the rate of $1,630 a front foot or $26 66 a square foot.

John Klepner has sold to Frank Usiak 24x130 feet on the north side of Penn avenue near Clymer street, Twelfth ward, for $13,000. It is improved with a brick house and store.

John Beltz has bought from F. A. Glacey 100x150 feet on the east side of Pacific avenue near Coral street, Twentieth ward, for $10,800.

Two downtown deals have been closed by the delivery of the deeds. Harry Davis has obtained title to the James H. Aiken holdings in Fourth avenue near Grant street for $50,000. The sale was virtually made three months ago. The lot is 24x85 feet and is improved with a three-story brick building.

Leopold Vilsack has also obtained title to the T. J. Keenan lot in Third avenue for which the exact consideration was $30,000. The lot is 15x80 feet near Smithfield street and is a part of the site on which Mr. Vilsack will build his warehouse.

Five New Lot Plans Coming.

Judging by present prospects this is going to be a much better fall for marketing allotments than last. Encouraged by the success which the Freehold Real Estate Company had in the Brookline allotment in West Liberty at least five new allotments are being made ready for market and will be announced in detail in a few days. The first to come before the public probably will be the Brighton Heights property of the Brighton Heights Land Company adjoining Riverview park, which is nearly ready for the opening sale. Inquiry for this plan is said by experienced lot men in Allegheny to be the best so far of any allotment announced on the North Side for three years and over. $16,000 worth of property has been sold already. Last week the sales of lots in the plan amounted to $9,850. George T. McDonald will be the active agent in selling the property and he is already having plans drawn for a half dozen $8,000 houses which the company will erect this fall.

Two other allotments will be put on in the Bellevue district this month. Both are well located, one of them being next to the improved part of the borough. Another smaller allotment will be announced from West Liberty the latter part of this week and preparations are being made to get ready still another lot plan for opening September 25.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 10@20 points under bearish reports from the coming crop and lower European markets. The world's visible supply statement for the month showed an increase of 636,855 bags to 12,102,496 bags, against 11,465,641 bags last month and 13,492,498 bags last year. FLOUR TAKES HEAVY DROP IN LOCAL MARKET

Cut of Twenty Cents On the Barrel and Expected That It Will Go Much Lower.

Flour took a heavy drop yesterday, falling to $5 50 and $5 60 on fancy spring patents and corresponding figures on other grades. Jobbers are confident the market will drop to $5 on the higher grades before the slump quits, but this may not be for some little time. The present price they consider a good, safe buying figure. The drop was not unexpected. The Gazette in this column yesterday foreshadowed the day as one of possible bargains.

There were no changes in quotations in the green goods and produce market. Business was good and there was a heavy trade in fruit, particularly apples, which are coming in in abundance. They are a particularly fine quality of fruit this year and give evidence of the care with which farmers have been watching their orchards for the past few years. Country produce is in heavy receipts but prices are about as low on it as they will get.

Butter and eggs are firm at present prices and cheese is a staunch market. Any changes that will take place in these lines are expected to be in the way of higher prices.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 7 cars oats, 1 car corn, 27 cars hay, 4 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 7 cars oats, 10 cars hay, 1 car feed, 1 car rye; Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 2 cars rye, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn.

Receipts continue heavy but as noted before many cars of both hay and grain are of lower grades and it is difficult to effect sales. A good grade of hay and oats find ready buyers. On account of so many low grade goods arriving we now quote No. 4 oats. Ear corn receipts are on the increase. The market still continues weak. Straw is firmer and no change is noted in feed.

No Sensational Discoveries in the Lower Southwest Fields

Lower southwest operators are not making any sensational discoveries. The test wells recently completed are not of the kind to arouse renewed interest in any of the old fields. The search for new pools, while not entirely abandoned, the results are far from what is hoped for, and furnish no incentive for increased activity in the fields. In the Meade district, Marshall county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has completed its test on the M. E. Cunningham farm, on Fish creek, and has a small gasser in the Gordon. Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the same company has drilled its test on the Anthony Hill farm through the Gordon, and has a show for a slight gasser. It will be given a shot. At Freemansburg, Lewis county, the Reserve Gas Company has drilled its test on the George McKinley farm through the fifth sand, and has a good gasser in that formation.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company's No. 2 on the L. H. Williams farm is good for 25 barrels a day from the Big Injun. In the Wallace district, the same company has drilled its second test on the D. S. Barker farm 60 feet into the stray, and has developed a little gas. Near Bealls Mills, Lewis county, the South Penn has given its second test on the H. C. Lane farm a shot in the fifth sand, and it responded by producing 45 barrels the ensuing 24 hours. West of Mannington, on Bartholomew run, Marion county, the Freehold Oil and Gas Company has completed its second test on the Eighty Board farm, and has a show for a 45-barrel producer in the 30-foot sand.

In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn has drilled its second test on the J. W. Heffner farm 500 feet below the Berea grit and found no oil or gas. No regular producing formation was encountered after drilling through the Berea grit. This is the second deep test that has been drilled in that district and failed to find any of the well-recognised deep producing sands. In the Bear Run district, in Pleasants county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 5 on the M. H. Flowers farm through the Cow Run sand and has a duster. In the McFarlan district, Ritchie county, the Salem Oil Company has started to drill at a second test on the J. Rikes farm.

On the Ohio side the New Matamoras district, Monroe county, is completing a number of wells, and shows a creditable number of new starting. In that district, H. E. Schmidt & Co. have completed No. 3 on the G. A. Shepelly farm, and have a 10-barrel pumper in the Keener sand. In the same district the Camden Oil Company has completed No. 1 on the T. A. Campbell farm, and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the same formation. The Long Bottom Oil Company has completed its test on the A. A. Stark farm, and has the same kind of a pumper in the same formation.

Near Amsterdam, Carroll county, the Elkton Ridge Oil Company has completed its test on the John Stringer farm and has a small gasser in the Berea grit. WEAKNESS DEVELOPS IN THE WHEAT PIT

Free Movement of New Grain Is Largely Responsible for Easier Tone in Market.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Weakness developed in the wheat pit during the first hour of trading. At the start sentiment was a trifle bullish as a result of the firm cables. Initial quotations on December were a shade lower to ⅛@¼c higher, at 81½ to 81¾c. On fair demand from commission houses, December touched 81⅝@81⅞c. A reaction, however, soon set in, resulting in a decline of over half a cent a bushel. Selling by cash houses, influenced by liberal receipts at Minneapolis, was a feature. Arrivals of wheat today at Minneapolis were 838 cars, compared with 660 a year ago. Another factor, apparently overlooked earlier in the day, was the large exports of wheat from Russia as shown in the world's shipments. Notwithstanding numerous reports of crop failure in Russia shipments from that country during the preceding week were 4,320,000 bushels out of a total movement of 9,064,000 bushels. The market was further depressed by an increase of 1,416,000 bushels in the amount of breadstuffs on ocean passage. Nearing the close a decline of about a cent in the price of cash wheat at Minneapolis caused additional selling of option months here. For December the lowest point of the day was reached at 81⅛c. The market closed weak, with December at 81⅜c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 67,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 2,095,000 bushels, compared with 1,859,000 bushels a year ago. The visible supply decreased 772,000 bushels. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 976 cars against 748 cars last week, and 1,008 cars a year ago.

Heavy accumulations of corn since Saturday had a weakening effect on the corn market. Absence of reports of damage by frost was partly accountable for the easy tone that prevailed throughout the entire day. Another factor was a moderate decline in the price of corn at Liverpool. The weather bureau report was bearish. Pit traders and commission houses were the principal sellers. The market closed weak with prices near the lowest point of the day. December opened ¼ to ⅜c lower at 43⅛@43⅜c, sold off to 43c and closed at 43¼@43⅜c. Local receipts were 1,019 cars, with 470 cars of contract grade.

A report that shipments of oats from Russia would be small owing to damage to the crop had a steadying effect on the oats market offsetting the influence of the easier tone of other grain. Shorts and cash houses were active bidders, but offerings were small. December opened unchanged at 26⅝c, sold between 26⅜ and 26½@26⅝c, and closed at 26⅜c. Local receipts were 660 cars.

Provision prices suffered a decided slump as a result of persistent liquidation due to a 10c decline in the price of live hogs. Selling of September pork was a feature. At the close October pork was off 42½c at $14 80. Lard was down 12½c at $7 90. Ribs were 10c lower at $8 70.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 60 cars; corn, 432 cars; oats, 257 cars; hogs, 28,000 head.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A group of 21 mining claims in Pleasant Valley, near Idaho Springs, Colo., has been transferred to R. C. Bonney, manager of the Sun & Moon Mining Company. The consideration was $100,000.

The directors of the Mary McKinney are preparing to resume payment of dividends in October, conditions in the bottom level being so good as to justify such resumption. It is rushing development in the 600-foot level to penetrate 14 different ore shoots that in the upper workings produced great quantities of high grade. Some have been opened already and show an excellent mineral. Dividends were suspended last year.

The output of the Cripple Creek mines for August amounted to $1,928,450, and to obtain that amount of the yellow metal it was necessary to break and treat 58,725 tons of ore. The value of the ore was $110,880 over that of July, while the tonnage was but 50 tons more than in July.

The Portland Mining Company at a depth of several hundred feet below the surface [illegible] in virgin territory [illegible].

There was a marked increase in the output from Tonopah [illegible] shipped 750 tons from the Belmont [illegible] from the Tonopah Extension [illegible] from the Gold Mountain, 37 tons [illegible] Goldfield [illegible]. Within the next few weeks there will undoubtedly be a very marked improvement in Goldfield, which has proved one of the most marvelous camps in the history of the country. The superintendent of the Goldfield & Copper Company is planning to begin operations at the mine within the next two weeks. The manager of the Pennsylvania Goldfield proposes to put two sets of leasers at work on this property, which will undoubtedly prove to be one of good value.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The sensational advance in North Butte was the feature of our market today. On heavy buying it advanced to 38 and closed 38½ bid. Allouez was very strong at the opening. There was almost no stock for sale and there were market orders for fully 2,000 shares. The feeling in the coppers is good and stocks are scarce. For the present we advise selling on the extreme strong spots and buying every time they are weak.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—A quieter tone prevails in the wool market with the prices firm. The large buyers are well stocked, and great activity is not looked for until they come into the market again. Certain grades of wools are already becoming scarce especially Oregon, both western staple and valley. A large part of the demand for territory wool continues to be for selling fast. B. & O. TERMINALS HERE NEXT YEAR

Supt. Ermire Leaves Monongahela and Lake Erie Promotions Follow.

DELANO ARRIVES FROM WEST

Pittsburgh is to have new Baltimore & Ohio passenger and freight terminals next year. Work is to be taken up early in the year on a plan that will be satisfactory to the city and to the rivermen. Such was the gist of information given by Chief Engineer D. D. Carothers of the Baltimore & Ohio road while he was in the city yesterday. Mr. Carothers spent the day here conferring on matters of interest in his department and clearing up correspondence that has accumulated during his absence on his vacation in Maine.

Third Vice President George L. Potter of the Baltimore & Ohio was also here, being in conference most of the day with Pennsylvania lines officers regarding matters of common interest on the two systems west of this city. H. E. Talcott, engineer of surveys, also spent a short time here.

"What is the status of the passenger and freight terminal improvements proposed for Pittsburgh?" Chief Engineer Carothers was asked.

"We have worked out an extensive plan for this improvement," replied Mr. Carothers, "and announcement of details will be made as soon as we can get together. I feel certain that the plan will be satisfactory to the city of Pittsburgh and to the river authorities in regard to the Monongahela river wharf."

"Will the freight warehouses and terminal yards be confined east of the Panhandle tracks in Second avenue?" was asked.

"That is something I cannot say just now. We have been held up pretty hard in the purchases of property in that district, and, of course, it would hardly be wise to make no use of the property there. But just what use will be made I cannot say now."

"Will Pittsburgh get the improvement next year?"

"Yes. I think this work will be included in the program for 1906 and will be begun early in the year. It will be gigantic and will be such as to give the Baltimore & Ohio ample facilities for its rapidly increasing traffic."

"Will the new line to New Castle or the South Penn be taken up next year?"

"There is doubt about either of them being taken up. I don't know where the recent report of our taking up the new line west from here originated, but the information was not correct. We are going ahead with some work on the New Castle division, partly building a new line from Akron westward, with the double tracking of this portion of the road, which is now a single track. The double tracking of this stretch of about 29 miles will give the Baltimore & Ohio a double track line from Pittsburgh, or really from New York, to Hamler, O., or to within about 200 miles of Chicago. Work is now in progress on constructing a second track on a portion of the Chicago division. The double tracking will be gradually extended until the whole line from New York to Chicago has two tracks."

G. B. Obey Succeeds John Ermire.

Announcements of important changes in the operating departments of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and Monongahela railroads were made yesterday. They follow the resignation of John Ermire as superintendent of the Monongahela railroad, which is a line owned jointly by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, although operated independently in the coke region. Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is president of the Monongahela railroad, and Samuel Rea, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, is vice president of the coke region line.

President Schoonmaker issued a circular yesterday announcing the appointment of G. B. Obey as superintendent of the Monongahela road, vice John Ermire, resigned, with headquarters at Brownsville.

Following this announcement came another from General Superintendent J. B. Yohe of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, in which several changes and promotions are shown as a result of Mr. Obey leaving the position of superintendent of the company's Youghiogheny and Monongahela divisions to become superintendent of the Monongahela road. The jurisdiction of J. W. Riley, superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie division, or main line north, is extended over the Youghiogheny and Monongahela divisions. The jurisdiction of C. T. Kalbaugh, trainmaster of the Youghiogheny and Monongahela divisions, is extended over the main line, and E. E. Ramsdell is appointed assistant trainmaster of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Division, with headquarters at McKees Rocks. Mr. Ramsdell has been trainmaster of the same division. It is probable that a similar position, that of assistant trainmaster, will be created for the Youghiogheny and Monongahela divisions and a man appointed to the place by General Superintendent Yohe.

The men who are concerned in these changes are well known in railroad operating circles. Mr. Obey started with the old Pittsburgh & Western and was operator and dispatcher of this road when he took service with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie about 12 years ago as train dispatcher. He was promoted later to chief dispatcher, and four years ago was promoted to the superintendency of the two southern divisions. Mr. Riley started railroading in the west and came to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie in January, 1900, as trainmaster, having been superintendent of the Big Four at Indianapolis from 1891 to 1899. He was promoted to superintendent of the Lake Erie's main line in 1901.

The appointments are all effective at once.

Delano Wants to "Show" Gould.

That Frederic A. Delano, president of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, and vice president of the Wabash railroad, wants to make evident to George J. Gould that an untiring endeavor has been made to give Pittsburgh what was promised in the way of freight facilities, and thus also to have the costly line into Pittsburgh begin to pay revenue, was evident from his expression yesterday. Mr. Delano arrived here from a two-day inspection of the lines east of Toledo in company with First Vice President B. A. Worthington and other officers. He spent a couple of hours after arriving at 4 o'clock, in looking over the new freight house and the line toward the Allegheny river wharf that are now under construction. When he was asked whether he expected Mr. Gould would visit Pittsburgh soon, he replied:

"It is altogether probable that Mr. Gould will be here within a few weeks or a month. I understand that he is desirous of going over the lines of the railroads of his interest, and, of course, Pittsburgh will naturally come in for much interest from him. Really, though, I wish we might have his visit come here a little later, for then we could show him the completed freight house and some other things of good progress here.

"I had hoped that we might have the freight house done by October 1, but the outlook now is that it will hardly be ready before November 1. It may be possible for the elevator builders to install their machinery before that time, and if they do we can have the house in operation before November 1. We have been handling a pretty good lot of freight out of the temporary freight station here in the trainshed," concluded Mr. Delano, as he walked along the freight platform and noted the cars being loaded and unloaded. He said that there is nothing of special significance in his present trip, just a periodical inspection of the properties. He and Mr. Worthington left for New York on the Pennsylvania's New York flyer last night, to attend a board meeting today. One of the meetings in New York will be that of the directors of the Wabash Railroad Company, which will probably be attended by President Joseph Ramsey, who returned from Europe yesterday. Mr. Delano did not know whether he would return to Pittsburgh on his way west.

Railroad Notes.

The contract of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad with the Wheeling hospital has been cancelled, and hereafter all hospital work for the company will be done by the City hospital, Wheeling.

The Pittsburgh Construction Company has received the contract for three spans of bridge work for the Baltimore & Ohio at St. Clairsville, O. Extensive repairs will be made to the trestles of the bridge.

About 200 general foremen, division foremen, roundhouse foremen, machine shop foremen and assistants will meet at St. Louis tomorrow to form an association of their interests. They will be addressed by several well-known railroaders.

Fifty-eight hours from Chicago to Havana, 22 hours on land over the Chicago & Alton and Mobile & Ohio roads and 36 on the gulf by the Munson Steamship Company, is a proposed fast route to be established soon. The train from Chicago to Mobile will be known as the Havana limited.

General Superintendent G. W. Creighton of the Pennsylvania railroad, accompanied by Superintendent A. G. Mitchell, Trainmaster J. L. Tucker and Assistant Engineer E. B. Wiseman of the Monongahela division, spent yesterday in an inspection of the division, and left for Altoona over the Pittsburgh division late in the afternoon.

E. D. Cochran, agent of the Baltimore & Ohio at Chewton; F. R. Cochran, second trick operator of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at "B G" tower, Monaca, and C. M. Kirkbride, agent of the Pennsylvania company at Wampum, accompanied by their families and the Misses Bessie and Ethel Ketterer of Wampum, have returned from a delightful outing of two weeks at Hay's camp farm on Lake Erie.

FATHER MISSING; SON TESTIFIES

Complete Identification About Established but John Fulton Again Disappears.

NEW CHAPTER TO MYSTERY

John Fulton of Paterson, N. J., and John Fulton formerly of Pittsburgh, are one and the same according to the positive testimony of one of the sons, who, although only 7 years old when his father deserted his mother and two sons, positively identified him as his father. He was also identified by Richard A. Ennis of 2014 Center avenue.

Although all this testimony was introduced in his behalf, John Fulton has again disappeared, apparently leaving behind him $1,300 rather than attempt to prove his own identity in open court. He failed to show up at the appointed hour and his attorney, A. H. Moesser, represented him.

Mr. Moeser told the court his client had not appeared since last Saturday, when he went to his office and told him his story. He said he was the John Fulton who left Pittsburgh in 1877, and he left the attorney's office to hunt witnesses who could prove his identity. He was to return at 4 o'clock but came in after 5 o'clock, when Mr. Moeser had gone home. Since that time Fulton has only appeared to his family and his attorney stated that he was there to prove him the right man, but his client was not present.

Son Testifies Against Himself.

William Fulton, the eldest son of the missing man, whose testimony took from him and his mother the legacy of $1,300 which will go to the father if he cares to claim it, declared the man who appeared in court Saturday was his father and was entitled to the money left by Mrs. Quinn. His strongest reasons for believing this fact was that the stranger pointed out to him some of the scenes of his childhood during a walk on Sunday. He also testified that he remembered his father's walk and his eyes and hair. He said he failed to remember him in Paterson, when he visited him 15 years ago, because at that time he wore a beard and had on greasy clothes. When he appeared to him at his place of business, the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, on Saturday, he said the family resemblance was so strong that, notwithstanding his grey hair and aged appearance, he instinctively knew he was looking at his father, although he was but 7 years of age when his father left.

Son's Identification Is Positive.

Attorney Golden, although representing William, cross-examined him and asked him if he did not recognize Fulton as the man he met in Paterson, N. J., and from that became impressed that he had seen the face before. William said that although he could not have positively identified his father then, conditions have changed and he now knows the man is no imposter. William said his father was at his brother Robert's house Sunday, took dinner with them and they then walked down town together. He had not seen him since.

Attorney Moeser called Richard A. Ennis, a clerk in the Pennsylvania railroad office. Ennis said he knew Fulton when he lived in Pittsburgh and went to school with Mary Nihart, now Mrs. Mary Fulton. He knew Fulton in 1870 as a brass finisher.

"When did you see John Fulton last?" asked Mr. Moeser.

"I saw him in this court house on Saturday. I had business in the register's office, and did not have Mr. Fulton pointed out to me. As I came out of the register's office and walked down the corridors, I saw a gray-haired man. Walking over, I shook hands with the stranger. I called him by name and he replied that I was right, but had him at a disadvantage. He did not remember me nor could he recall the circumstances of our last meeting.

Knew He Was Fulton.

"I knew he was John Fulton. He is older, has gray hair, but is of the same general appearance, his features were the same and he had the same walk. He asked me my name, and I refused to tell him. I asked him why he had left his family, but he evaded my question."

Judge Miller asked Ennis if he remembered the disappearance. He said he did, but did not speak to Mrs. Fulton about it. She was a very estimable lady, the witness said, and he knew they had had no trouble. He seemed devoted to her. He said the only thing that had changed about Fulton was his voice. Judge Miller announced that while there is no question but that Fulton is the same man who left nearly 30 years ago, he owed the court the courtesy to appear and present his claim in person.

Court Postpones Decision.

"We have no comment to make on why he left or what he has been doing away. That does not concern this court. We only have to do with his identity and on that score the testimony of Mr. Ennis is very conclusive. We will postpone this decision, however, until next Tuesday, at which time, Mr. Moeser, I wish you would make an effort to get your client to attend the hearing, or if you are prepared earlier, if you will notify the court, we will try to fix a time."

The court did not intimate what it will do, because, although it shows Fulton is alive and the absolute testimony is not controverted by any other facts, yet he again disappears without claiming the money or asking for its distribution.

"This case is like a romance you read in the story-books," remarked Judge Miller, as he left the bench.

The attorney is not certain Fulton can be found, and said he feared the publicity has again driven him away.

A telegram received in Pittsburgh stated "John Fulton left Paterson Thursday afternoon for Pittsburgh. He has resided here, at 20 East Twentieth street, for four years, with a wife and three sons, Robert, aged 21; John, aged 18, and James, aged 16. Mrs. Fulton refused to make any statement."

PRESIDENT ASKS PALMER TO QUIT

Removes the Public Printer, the Head of the World's Greatest Printing Office.

DISCHARGES NOT ALLOWED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Public Printer F. W. Palmer practically has been ousted from office. It was learned authoritatively tonight that President Roosevelt had demanded Mr. Palmer's resignation, to take effect on the 15th inst.

The demand of the president for Mr. Palmer's resignation was due primarily to the latter's action in trying to force Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing, and L. C. Hay, a foreman of division, out of the government printing office. Mr. Palmer asked for the resignations of Ricketts and Hay on the ground that they had been insubordinate. The public printer formulated a series of charges against the two men. These charges, it is known, were forwarded to Oyster Bay.

As soon as President Roosevelt learned of the situation that had developed, he directed Public Printer Palmer to forward to him his resignation, to take effect in two weeks. It has been known for some time that Mr. Palmer would not be reappointed to his present office. For several months before President Roosevelt left Washington for Oyster Bay, he was casting about for a suitable man for the position of public printer. He offered it to John A. Sleicher of New York, but he declined it.

The investigation made by the Keep commission into the letting of a contract for 72 Lanston typesetting machinese for use in the government printing office disclosed a serious condition of affairs in the management of the office.

The evidence adduced by the commission in the course of its inquiry created much bitter feeling among the men holding high positions in the office. One of the direct results of this feeling was the demand made by Public Printer Palmer for the resignations of Ricketts and Hay. As the Keep commission inquiry, so far as known, developed nothing to the disadvantage of Ricketts and Hay, the president acted promptly in taking the whole matter out of Palmer's hands and placing it in the hands of the Keep commission for such further investigation as might be necessary. Coupled with this action of the president was the demand on Mr. Palmer for his resignation.

Among the men mentioned in connection with the office are Oscar J. Ricketts, whom the public printer sought to remove; H. T. Brian, chief clerk of the office; William S. Rossiter, chief clerk of the census bureau, and John Leech, public printer in the Philippines. The office pays a salary of $4,500 a year. The annual disbursements for the government printing office aggregate about $7,000,000.
